NE Radial Priority Main Issue

. . . OF CANDIDATES AT WOMEN'S LEAGUE MEETING

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Candidates for the City Council Wednesday night disclosed that they are at odds on the issue of a high priority rating for the proposed Northeast Radial.

Comments were offered at a public meeting sponsored by the Lincoln League of Women Voters, attended by upwards of 175 candidates and citizens.

Presenting three-minute talks on campaign issues were 12 of 17 candidates for the council, all five candidates for mayor, 3 of 6 for the Lincoln Airport Authority and all seven running for the Lincoln Board of Education.

Questions from the audience were invited after each group finished their presentations.

Asked whether widening projects of major arterials, such as A St., should take precedence over the Northeast Radial, incumbent Councilman Ervin Peterson said that the radial "will be built, but other factors lessen the need—we have to take street improvements a step at a time."

Council candidate Tom Allman said the radial "will never be built and I don't think it needs to be built. He advocated the implementation of a "northeast traffic system," using existing streets and a smaller amount of new construction through undeveloped areas, which "can be developed at much less the cost" now estimated for the radial.

Verne Gibson termed thee radial "not necessarily a prime project" and plugged for the improvement of other arterials.

C. Robert Mowbray, although an advocate of the northeast route, said that city streets "can still handle traffic reasonably well." He suggested "reconstructing problem intersections to arterial width" with the view toward widening the streets later.

Council candidates Mrs. Helen Boosalis, incumbent, Jack Callaway and John Kelley responded to the question with a call for work to begin as soon as possible on the Northeast Radial.

In response to another question, the council candidates who answered were uniform in their belief that the city should not subsidize or enter into the public transportation field.

Several challengers for the four open council seats criticized the present council for what amounted to indecision.

"They are not making decisions, not looking in advance, not getting things done," Kelley declared.

The four candidates challenging Mayor Dean Petersen's bid for re-election — Carl F. Olson, Robert Venner, Sam Schwartzkopf and Glenn Howell—differed from the mayor on the question of amending the City Charter to change the formula that determines the city tax ceiling.

The four agreed that any change should await a decision by the Legislature to repeal the tax on intangibles. Mayor Petersen was emphatic in declaring that in his opinion an amendment is needed now in order to preserve the city tax base.

The three-minute presentation by each school board candidate and the following question period reflected a concensus of opinion that the major areas of concern are efficiency in administration and expenditures, the need to increase teachers' salaries and elevate them to a more professional status, and opposition to an increased teacher-pupil ratio.

The three airport authority candidates present agreed that the authority should become a self-sustaining governmental subdivision and that the board should increase its efforts to attract increased and more competitive commercial air service.

Bill Advanced Creating Alcoholism Commission

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee Wednesday sent to floor debate 6-0 a proposal to create Nebraska's first state-sponsored Commission on Alcoholism.

The measure (LB610) was the outgrowth of a study by a private citizens committee concerned with Nebraska's increasing alcoholic problem, its introducer, Lincoln Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme, said.

She said there are more than 45,000 alcoholics in Nebraska. Such a commission could bring them hope of recovery, she added.

Under the plan a Division of Alcoholism would be created in the State Institutions Department under the supervision of an appointed director.

An advisory commission of seven members named by the governor would act in concert with the director to effect a statewide education program on alcoholism.

In its initial stages the commission would mainly study the problem, then suggest plans for treatment centers and detoxification clinics.

Mrs. Orme said such a body would require about $70,000 in state tax funds for operation the first biennium. She said federal money was also available. Forty other states have similar programs.

Others supporting the bill included David Hancock, executive director of the Lincoln Council on Alcoholism, who said the bill would help alcoholics "fight their way back to sobriety."

Davids Tews of the Nebraska Licensed Beverage Dealers Association, Judge W. W. Nuernberger of the Lancaster Juvenile Court, Dr. Irvin Blouse of the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, State Penitentiary Warden Maurice Sigler and Mrs. Fred Patzel of the Nebraska Women's Christian Temperance Union also backed the program.

In other matters of the action the committee advanced by 6-0 votes:

LB854—outlawing the sale in Nebraska of so-called filled dairy products.

LB863—providing compensation to tenants who are forced to move because of state condemnation proceedings.

LB782—removing the limitation of group insurance an individual employe can buy.

Omaha Senator Struck By Auto

Sen. Edward R. Danner of Omaha was reported in "good" condition at a Lincoln hospital after he was struck by a car near 13th and J Wednesday afternoon, hospital officials said.

The 67-year-old state senator was crossing 13th when he was struck by a car driven by Richard J. Windle, 17, of 3101 Summit, police said.

Staley Lashes At LBJ

. . . IN MILK WAR

Des Moines, Iowa (AP) — The federal government charged the National Farmers Organization Wednesday with using coercion in an attempt to monopolize interstate sale of milk in 19 states.

Officials of the NFO promptly asserted filing of the civil antitrust suit in U.S. District Court here was part of a campaign by the Johnson administration to deny farmers the right to bargain for fair prices.

Hearing Today

Judge Roy L. Stephenson set a hearing for 1 p.m. Thursday for arguments on whether to issue a restraining order against the farm group.

The Justice Department charged the NFO had forced nonmember farmers, truckers and processors to join in a milk withholding campaign which started March 15. It did not challenge the holdback by NFO members themselves.

The suit asked the NFO and its members be ordered not to threaten nonmember farmers and others in the trade and not to try to monopolize sale of milk by illegal means.

Staley Lashes Out

Oren Lee Staley, NFO president, lashed out from his headquarters at Corning, Iowa, at what he called "the Johnson administration's policy to keep farm prices low."

It was the first time since the milk holdout began that Staley has openly brought politics into his group's attempt to gain a milk price increase of 2 cents a quart.

"The NFO has never condoned or advocated any illegal acts, and it never will," he said. "The real heart of the federal action is to stop farmers from bargaining and thereby gaining fair prices for their products."

Farmers 'Shocked'

Staley contended the federal suit was filed "at a time when we were winning" and said all farmers "will be shocked by this type of action."

He added the NFO will obey any court order but pledged his organization has "no intention of quitting" the milk holdout.

The NFO had staked out 25 states for its campaign, but took little, if any, action in some of them.

The NFO action affects Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Tennessee, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

In 1965, the suit says, those 19 states produced more than 82.9 billion pounds of milk or about 66% of the nation's total.

Antimonopoly Section

The section of the Sherman Antitrust Act, on which the Justice Department suit is based, forbids an attempt to create a monopoly.

In this case, the suit says, federal law is applicable because substantial quantities of the milk involved move across state lines in processing and sales.

Earlier in the day, the NFO switched from dumping milk to turning it into byproducts that can be stored.

The new strategy has the same aim as the old — keeping milk from normal channels in a movement to add 2 cents to the prices farmers receive, now generally 8 to 10 cents a quart.

Under the plan, participating farmers will send milk to processors who have signed four-month contracts to pay 2 cents more per quart. The milk, both Grade A and Grade B, will be converted into cheese, butter or powdered milk and put in storage.

LINCOLN HAS RECORD HIGH

An unseasonably warm downtown Lincoln temperature of 87 degress Wednesday established a new record high. The previous high mark had been 86 degrees set in 1895.

Omaha's Eppley Airfield recorded a high of 85 degrees to equal the city's record for that date, also set in 1895.

OPEN AID PROPOSED . . .

CIA Must End Secret Subsidy

Washington (AP) — President Johnson ordered the Central Intelligence Agency Wednesday to get out of the business of subsidizing private groups through secret, under-the-table deals.

Johnson at the same time promised to give serious consideration to the creation of a new institution that in effect would continue federal subsidies but do so in the open.

The President acted after receiving recommendations from a three-man panel he appointed after an international controversy was kicked up last month by disclosure that the CIA had been secretly financing overseas activities by private educational, labor, philanthropic and cultural organizations.

Policy

In a key move, Johnson accepted the following recommended policy statement by the panel:

"No federal agency shall provide any covert financial assistance or support, direct or indirect, to any of the nation's educational or private voluntary organizations . . .

"Where such support has been given, it will be terminated as quickly as possible without destroying valuable private organizations before they can seek new means of support."

The President, in a statement of his own, said he is directing all federal agencies fully to implemeent the new policy.

Public-Private Agency

The committee also recommended "that the government should promptly develop and establish a public-private mechanism to provide public funds openly for overseas activities of organizations which are adjudged deserving, in the national interest, of public support."

On this point, Johnson said: "To review concrete ways of accomplishing this objective, I am requesting Secretary (of State Dean) Rusk to serve as chairman of a special committee which will include representatives from the executive, the Congress and the private community."

Chairman of the group that reported to Johnson was Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach. The other members were CIA Director Richard Helms and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner.

This group said many activities — such as those of the National Student Association —that had been subsidized by the CIA were of great importance. However, it concluded:

"The time has surely come for the government to help support such activity in a mature, open manner."

Dec. 1 Deadline

The Katzenbach committee estimated that most if not all existing secret subsidy programs can be liquidated by Dec. 31.

None of these programs, it said, would justify any exception to the new policy against secret financial aid.

"At the same time, where the security of the nation may be at stake," it went on, "it is impossible for this committee to state categorically now that there will never be a contingency in which overriding national security interests may require an exception."

Tiemann Team To Cost More

. . . 10-MAN STAFF SOUGHT

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's "team approach" to state government will double his office staff costs over the previous administration's, but there will be more day-to-day supervision of departmental activities and expediting of decisions, the Legislature's Budget Committee was told Wednesday.

Tiemann is requesting a $358,262 budget compared with the previous governor's $261,-793 with the $96,468 increase for additional staff members and higher salaries.

Clayton Yeutter, the governor's executive assistant, said Tiemann's staff will be increased to 10 from the present eight as compared to five used by former Gov. Frank Morrison.

Higher Salaries

As compared with the $10,-500 salary for Morrison's top aide, the Tiemann budget proposes salary increases to $15,-000 and $17,500 for his executive assistant during the next biennium and $14,000 and $16,-500 for his counsel, Robert Barnett.

Even with the presently expanded staff, Yuetter said, "We are still behind — there's been more correspondence and telephone calls than experienced by the previous administration."

He suggested this is "because we're more involved in legislation."

Omaha Office

Yeutter said a third assistant to man a proposed Omaha office would be added soon after July 1 if the budget is approved. Staffing and operational costs were estimated at $28,000 to $30,000 with a $6,000 to $6,300 salary for the assistant and a secretary at a $3,600 annual salary.

Noting that nearly one third of the state's population is in the Omaha area, Yuetter said "better coordination between Omaha governmental officials and the public should be possible with the Omaha office."

He conceded the Omaha office "is an experiment, and would be dropped if it doesn't work out."

Participating

Yeutter said, "Gov. Tiemann is using more the team approach in participating in policy decisions and administration of the departments."

Gubernatorial supervision over departments has been split between himself and Barrett with authority to aid the governor in decision-making, Yeutter told the committee.

"Morrison used more autonomy within the departments, but our approach is more day-to-day supervision and team work in expediting decisions."

More Legislation

Yeutter said the governor's office has and will draft more legislation than the Morrison administration, and that as executive assistant he will travel almost as much as the governor.

Yeutter reaffirmed Tiemann's announced intent to effect a 10% reduction in state employes within departments under the governor's control with "moral suasion" for similar reductions in the others.

He said a 10% reduction in state highway personnel is already being implemented.

More Study

The committee called for further study of the $77,494 budget of the Higher Education Facilities office, administered by the University of Nebraska but budgeted under the goversor's office.

While the overall budget shows no increase, Budget Committee Chairman Richard Marvel critically questioned "the apparent 25% increase is salary levels for the agency."

Police in suburban Kenner said the plane hit the rear of the plush Hilton Inn as it went down. The motel is across busy U.S. 61 from the airport.

Officials Report Phony $20-Bills Passed Here

Lincoln banks have received at least eight counterfeit $20 bills during the past week, it was announced Wednesday.

Federal officials said that the bogus bills, described as "deceptive" would pass readily among people not used to handling money, though they emphasized that only a few of the notes are or have been in circulation.

The counterfeits are all photographic copies of a federal reserve note from the federal reserve bank in Atlanta, Ga., they said.

The bills may be identified by an "F" (designating Atlanta) in the seal on the left side of the portrait accompanying the serial number "F16962418A."

Officials said that all the bogus bills will have the false serial number since they are all photographic copes of one bill.

British To Buy 40 More FIIIs

London (AP)—Britain intends to order 40 more American F111s Thursday, bringing her total expenditure on the swing-wing fighter-bomber to nearly $1 billion.

The decision, confirmed Wednesday by government sources, packs far-reaching implications for the country's defense and political relationships:

—It will inextricably link Britain's air power and strategic planning with the Americans at least until the mid-1970s.

East Of Suez

—It will underline the resolve of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government to go on playing an active military role east of Suez in defiance of rising demands from within his own Labor Party for a pullout.

—It will provide President Charles de Gaulle of France with another argument that the British are so close to the Americans that they do not yet rate membership in Europe's Common Market.

The F111 has a range of 1,500 miles, a speed of 1,600 m.p.h. and costs about $15.7 million. It was designed by General Dynamics of Fort Worth, Tex., and it was chosen by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara for use by the Navy and Air Force.

Britain brought 10 F111s last year with an option to order another 40, for delivery in 1969, by Saturday. Special financing arrangements over 10 years allows Britain to offset most of the estimated total $840 million cost with military exports to the United States or to other foreign customers secured through American cooperation.

As Defense Secretary Denis Healey has explained it, the F111s will bridge the gap between 1970, when Britain's aging Canberras phase out, and 1975 when the British-French swing-wing fighter-bomber comes into service.

In deciding to go for the F111s the British abandoned development of their own plans for a high-performance tactical strike reconnaissance fighter-bomber, to the dismay of aircraft makers here.

TORREY CANYON AWASH . . . smoke and fire still rise from oil slick near broken tanker.

2,000 Join Oily Battle Of Beaches

Land's End, England (AP) — Confidence of ultimate victory surged up Wednesday among Britons fighting a black wave of oily disaster from the scrap iron that was once the supertanker Torrey Canyon. More than 2,000 men swung into the battle of the beaches.

While troops and auxiliary firemen worked over oil-stained sands with detergents and bulldozers, renewed bombing by British planes again ignited the crude oil cargo remaining in the wave-washed wreckage. A giant column of smoke rose from the sea off southwest England.

Despite huge quantities of oil still drifting at sea, municipal authorities of shore resorts expressed belief that most can be cleared away before the summer vacation season opens in July.

"We're well satisfied with the work so far and we are learning a lot," said Philip Coleman, manager of the Wadebridge Council in north Cornwall. "If things get no worse, we're confident of winning the struggle."

Wave after wave of bombs and rockets slammed into the ruins of the Torrey Canyon, a 974-foot-long Liberian flag vessel owned by a subsidiary of the Union Oil Co. of California. She broke apart Sunday as Dutch tugs tried to pull her from a reef on which she grounded March 18.

The defense ministry planned to keep up the assault.

A direct napalm hit from a Royal Air Force plane in mid-afternoon sent a ball of fire 500 feet into the air. Within 30 minutes a plume of black smoke had climbed 5,000 feet.

The first bombings Tuesday had set off similar fires, but they were out by midnight.

The 61,000-ton Torrey Canyon, most expensive loss in merchant marine history at its insured value of $16.5 million, hit the notorious Seven Stones while carrying 35.8 million gallons of crude oil from Kuwait to Britain.

Live Network TV Halted By AFTRA Strike

New York (AP) — An announcers' wage strike scrambled national radio and television network programming Wednesday, blacking out many of the faces and voices familiar to audiences coast to coast. All stations stayed on the air, however.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service set up peace talks for Saturday in Washington in an effort to break a contract deadlock between the four major networks and the 18,000-member American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

Among newscasts affected by the strike were NBC's Huntley-Brinkley, CBS's Walter Cronkite, and ABC's Peter Jennings.

William Monroe, an office manager in Washington, was flown in to lend a hand on the Huntley-Brinkley news show. Daryl Griffin, a news production official, was tabbed by ABC to step in for Jennings.

Such name entertainers as Dean Martin, Danny Kaye, Red Skelton and the Smothers Brothers were taped only a week or so in advance, and could be eclipsed if the strike is prolonged.

Weekend appearances of such stars as Ed Sullivan and Jackie Gleason were in doubt, with CBS prepared to use tapes of their old shows, if need be.

It was the first national strike in AFTRA's 30-year history and the first performers' strike in the industry's history.

Supervisory personnel kept stations on the air, digging into libraries of old and all-but-forgotten shows to fill time left vacant by striking news and staff announcers, actors, singers and dancers. Independent stations were not affected.

First of the big names to go off the air were Hugh Downs and Frank Blair of NBC's early morning Today Show. The strike was barely under way when they showed up in a rainstorm to join pickets on 49th Street outside the 70-story RCA Building in Manhattan. Tapes of a July 4 Today Show were substituted.

AFTRA's old contract with ABC, CBS, NBC and the Mutual Radio Network expired Nov. 15. Contract negotiations broke off March 8 and were not resumed until Tuesday. They broke down again Tuesday night in the face of a 5 a.m. strike deadline.

Rocket Copter Errs, Fires At Viet Village

Saigon (AP) — A U.S. Army helicopter accidentally hit a Vietnamese village with two rockets, killing three and wounding 20 Vietnamese civilians, the U.S. command said Thursday.

The rockets hit a fuel supply point and set fire to nearby huts, destroying 21 of them. An additional 41 huts were purposely destroyed in an effort to create a firebreak and contain the blaze.

The incident occurred Wednesday at Sa Huynh village, 35 miles southeast of the northern coastal city of Quang Ngai.

Only small and scattered patrol skirmishes were reported as the lull in ground fighting of the last few days continued.

From Thai Bases

Over North Vietnam, U.S. Air Force planes from Thailand bases struck at a storage area 27 miles northeast of Hanoi Wednesday and pilots reported two large secondary explosions, indicating hits on fuel or ammunition. Pilots also said the target area was in flames as they pulled away.

Other Air Force fliers reported destroying 12 cargo barges and heavily damaging eight more of the 50-foot craft in strikes near Dong Hoi.

Navy pilots from the aircraft carrier Enterprise also attacked water craft in the Dong Hoi area, claiming destruction of six out of 10 beached supply boats. Fliers from the carrier Ticonderoga reported destroying or damaging five railroad boxcars near Vinh.

Big VC Base Falls

The U.S. command reported Wednesday that a big Viet Cong base camp with 60 underground bunkers had fallen to Americans probing War Zone C jungles in Operation Junction City.

This marked another gain in a five-week effort to neutralize that enemy stronghold.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade—one element in the biggest of 18 current U.S. ground sweeps — uncovered the base Tuesday along with an underground warehouse stocked with an undetermined amount of communist supplies.

Two U.S. soldiers were killed and 15 wounded in skirmishing above ground.

From Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, South Vietnam's chief of state, came a declaration that the communists cannot achieve a military victory in Vietnam, but "hope to win the war in Washington."

Thieu expressed this view aboard the U.S. nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise in the Gulf of Tonkin, where 90 Americans — fliers, sailors and Marines — were awarded South Vietnamese medals.

'Reds See It As Fighting'

Thieu told newsmen the Hanoi regime believes "that when men like Sen. (J. W.) Fulbright and Sen. (Robert F.) Kennedy express some view other than that of President Johnson there is fighting among America's leaders.

"The communists believe those personal opinions of some senators, some magazines, or some private societies can change the determination of the United States."

A U.S. spokesman said Viet Cong terrorists killed 56 Vietnamese civilians, wounded 76 and kidnaped 81 last week.

U.S. officials in Saigon released statistics showing defections from the Viet Cong continue at more than 1,000 a week.

1,187 VC Give Up

Last week, spokesmen said, 854 military, 281 political agents and 52 others from Viet Cong elements turned themselves in under the Saigon government's open arms program. The total for the year climbed to 9,746.

Sound Money Man Reappointed By Johnson

Washington (AP) — President Johnson ended guessing in financial circles Wednesday by redesignating controversial William McChesney Martin Jr. as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

A symbol of "sound money" in the financial world at home and abroad but anathema to "soft money" advocates, Martin will continue as chairman until Jan. 30, 1970.

Friends and foes alike had awaited anxiously Johnson's decision on whether to allow Chairman Martin to remain.

Critics In Congress

Some of Martin's most vigorous critics include Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, and Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. In particular, the critics have blamed Martin for higher interest rates.

Defenders of Martin, and fiscal conservatives generally, contend that the Reserve Board has voted both ways on monetary policy—with the votes hinging entirely on economic conditions at the time. Martin noted in recent congressional testimony that the board has been moving to make money more readily available with the dampening of inflationary pressures.

Johnson is the fourth president to designate Martin as chairman of the board. He originally was appointed to the board and designated chairman in April 1951 by Harry S. Truman. Other designations came from Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Johnson Wednesday. The designation as chairman is not subject to Senate confirmation, although membership on the board is.

'Tight Money' Man To Go

One man generally regarded as a "tight money" advocate will be leaving the board at the end of April.

White House Press Secretary George Christian said a successor will be picked later for Charles N. Shepardson.

Under civil service law, a government official must retire at age 70 if he has at least 15 years service, barring a waiver by the president.

Christian made it clear that no such waiver will be forthcoming for Shepardson. Ordinarily, Shepardson's term would expire a year from now.

Both Martin and Shepardson were in the majority when the board in December, 1965 voted 4 to 3 to increase the discount rate from 4% to 4½%, much to Johnson's annoyance.

The board said it took the action to combat inflation, but it had the effect of raising interest rates up and down the line.

The discount rate is what member banks of the Federal Reserve System must pay to borrow money from it. Other interest rates are added on to that.

Cautious Approach Needed On Budget, Say Candidates

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of articles to be run this week on the opinions of candidates in the April 4 primary election.)

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The views of the last six candidates to file for City Council, with few exceptions, generally follow the attitudes expressed by the first 11 to file: a more liberal zoning policy and a cautious approach to increased spending for increased city services.

Invited to speak out generally on issues they felt important, all 17 candidates were also asked by The Star to answer two basic questions:

(1) Do you think that existing land use patterns (zoning) are conducive to commercial expansion? Should more land be zoned for commercial use?

(2) Do you consider yourself opposed, neutral or favorable to increased city spending?

Candidates are listed in the order in which they filed:

Edward W. Lebsack, 58, 1035 So. 6th, associated with Lebsack Bros. Tavern:

Zoning: Lebsack said that additional commercial zoning "should follow the natural growth of the city, but not necessarily at the expense of residential areas."

"The needs, the convenience, of people living in thickly populated areas away from downtown should be considered when the City Council sets zoning policy—if business is willing to invest in Lincoln's future, it should be allowed to locate where it will serve the people.

"We can manage to keep a strong downtown while serving outlying areas."

Spending: "I would vote to spend for needed projects as long as I think the taxpayer can handle it — but then, we've got to stop.

"Spending will increase as the city grows, as revenues increase and as more services are demanded."

General comment: Lebsack said the improvement of parks and recreation is one of his main concerns—"I favor developing or improving recreational facilities in all city parks."

"The conservation of park land in both old and new sections of the city is important to the welfare of all citizens."

He said if elected he would work for a replacement fire station to serve the area west of 13th St. "Fire protection in the western area of the city is inadequate since they took out the 12th and F station," said Lebsack.

Jerry Morrison, 33, 6900 Adams, Havelock branch manager, Landy-Clark Lumber Co.:

Zoning: "There seems to be enough land area zoned for commercial use in accordance with our present Comprehensive Plan. But, I believe our problems stem from the plan not lending itself to a more natural directional movement, making much of our zoned land attractive to our growth pattern.

"The present plan is beautiful on paper, but I don't think it fits our community."

Spending: "Increased spending is justified when we may realize dividends of increased benefits for our residents. However, we must always search for avenues that lead to a more efficient government that gets full value for each penny spent."

General comment: "Unlike the past," Morrison said, "the next council must lead our city into the future. It must reflect the attitudes and viewpoints of the public.

"Our problems must be met head-on and not allowed to accumulate and fester.

"A void in the past has been communications between the council and the public. I would suggest holding occasional night meetings to allow the public to personally voice their opinions and meet their city government."

Mrs. Glendora McCabe, 41, 5430 Fairdale Road, housewife:

Zoning: "The basic Comprehensive Plan for Lincoln was adopted in 1953. This plan is outdated and should be restudied and reformed at once so that the presently zoned areas can be re-defined and we can have more land zoned for commercial purposes.

"Making available more commercially-zoned property is necessary to attract new business and industry to Lincoln."

Spending: "I am opposed to increased city spending unless it is shown to be necessary. We must keep up with the times, but we should budget the city's spending wisely. City government should practice economy in the same manner as a well-run business.

"The city should not be spending the people's tax dollars in a reckless manner. Rather, it should be the responsibility of the City Council to practice every economy in government."

General comment: "In formulating the general governing policies of the city, I believe it should be kept well in mind that the rights and freedoms of the individual should be regulated only when it is absolutely necessary to preserve the interests of the community as a whole."

John C. Kelley, 41, 7924 Sycamore Drive, executive, Educators Security Insurance Co.:

Zoning: Lincoln should expand on the basis of a plan. The current Comprehensive Plan is several years old and must be revised to accommodate for the services in areas where people want to live.

"Present restrictive zoning policies are stifling needed commercial expansion in areas where stimulating growth could be accomplished and are creating artificial barriers to downtown commercial development. I am more concerned with the location of additional areas than total land area for more extensive development."

Spending: "I am not opposed to prudent increased city spending where it is needed to help the city grow.

"The greatest benefit to tax relief for the city is a healthy, growing economy and city investment in streets and sewers and other improvements can help stimulate the economy."

General comment: Kelley said his concern with city government is "its inability to make decisions and to move. The most recent council decision to creep along with adding two more one-way streets and dragging out the decision on two others is a clear cut example.

"A liquor policy, rejected by the people, the State Liquor Control Commission and the courts is another example of an indefensible and unnecessary case of not facing up to the problem."

Paul F. Stoehr, 52, 727 C, bill room clerk, Nebraska Legislature:

Zoning: "The Comprehensive Plan, to be most effective, should be continually upgraded on a yearly basis. I believe there are certain areas that can use more commercial zoning at the present, and not just necessarily in the eastern part of the city —we are growing in other directions too.

"The planning commission and the council should give the citizens more facts as to why they turned down rezoning requests during the past year that would have given us new shopping centers.

"If people are willing to invest capital, we should be willing to give it a good hard look before we say no."

Spending: "I don't see how anyone could be opposed to some increased spending, especially when you consider the increased services the city is expected to furnish.

"When it comes to priority of new programs, some economy can be realized. But with the demand for better streets, sewers and other improvements, a problem is created. If the people are disgusted with city spending, the time to show their true feelings is at budget hearings."

General comment: Stoehr said that liquor policy and the city tax situation are questions that cannot be settled at the city level.

"Let's humble ourselves and find out from the Liquor Commission how they want it handled and go from there—why all the fighting?," he said.

C. Robert Mowbray, 53, 1501 Crestview Drive, vice-president, Mowbray Buick, Inc.:

Zoning: "Lincoln's present zoning policies are too rigid. They should be flexible enough to allow business and industry greater development. A strong downtown core is most desirable, but it must rise to the occasion and meet the changing demands of today's consumer.

"To achieve these goals, our city government must be more realistic about zoning patterns so as to achieve the desired results."

Spending: "I have been in the automobile business for 30 years and in order to compete and prosper I have had to apply all the features of a sound economic policy in order to survive. I propose that these same policies can be used in running our city's business.

"Chances are that costs will rise, as they have in business, but perhaps with good management we can get increased efficiency and as a result more things accomplished for the dollar spent."

General comment: "I am not a politician and have no ax to grind. I owe no favors to anyone, nor do I need any favors for my own personal betterment. I only want to apply my business talents to help run a more efficient and progressive city."

Well-Digging Mishap Fatal For Limbach

Rogers (AP) — Marvin Limbach, 30, of North Bend was electrocuted Tuesday in a well-digging accident on a farm three miles west of Rogers.

Limbach was operating equipment with a long boom and witnesses said the boom came in contact with high voltage wires. The North Bend Rescue Squad was called but efforts to revive him were futile.

Limbach's father, John Limbach, was killed in a well digging accident near Columbus in 1964, but his death occurred when he was struck by a falling object as he worked at the bottom of a well.

Marvin Limbach is survived by his wife, two children, his mother, two sisters and three brothers. Funeral services will be held at St. Charles Catholic Church in North Bend Friday.

Routine Check Locates Safety Patrol Cruiser

Lincoln Park Police Officer S. H. Golden began a routine check on a car illegally parked in University Park near 51st and Colby Wednesday afternoon and came up with some surprising results.

Golden finally traced the car to the State Safety Patrol. The outdated cruiser had been turned over to a body shop for renovation, the work was completed, and the car was put into the shop's parking lot to be driven back to Safety Patrol headquarters for auction.

But it never made it, Golden explained. Unknown to both the patrol and the body shop, the unidentified car thief had stolen the car, stolen another car's license plates, and had driven across Lincoln to University Park where the car was abandoned.

Storage Capacity Ranks 3rd in U.S.

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports the total grain storage capacity of facilities on the nation's farms increased slightly last year. They now total 5.49 billion bushels compared with 5.46 billion a year ago.

Texas leads with a total capacity of 913 million bushels, followed by Kansas with 185 million, Nebraska with 484 million, Illinois with 440 million and Minnesota with 305 million.

Sutton Juniper Proving Road Landscape Value

A new creeping variety of juniper discovered alongside a road near Sutton is proving of value for highway landscaping, Dr. J. O. Young reported Wednesday to a Nebraska roadside maintenance conference meeting at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

Young is chairman of the Horticulture and Forestry Department of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

The new juniper is low growing and attractive, he told State Highway Department employees. In addition, he said, it is rapid growing and so dense that it suppresses weeds.

Several hundred of the plants are being propagated for planting in 1967 along the Interstate Highway, he said. The Nebraska Nurserymen's Research Corporation is propagating 5,000 to 10,000 to be turned over to the Highway Department by the spring of 1968, he said.

The juniper has been known to exist in the Sutton area for about 30 years, but no one has done anything with it until university scientists added it to the materials they are collecting, Young said.

Challenge To Engineers

The Horticulture Department is involved in a long-range project, financed by the Highway Department, to develop ground cover that will stabilize highway rights-of-way economically and at the same time beautify them.

Young pointed out that beautificiation is a challenge to highway engineers because more people see more varieties of landscape from their cars than any other way. "The automobile is America's window to its own countryside," he said.

Man Nabbed After Chase

A 24-year-old Lincoln milkman was arrested by Lincoln police late Wednesday night after a high-speed chase at speeds as high as 70 miles per hour, Lincoln police said.

The man was arrested after he fled police units attempting to investigate a complaint that he had threatened persons in another car with a revolver, police said.

After he was arrested, policemen inspecting the car found two revolvers on the floor.

Policemen following the fleeing car clocked the vehicle said that he violated several automatic signals and stop signs during the five-minute chase.

The Obligation Of All

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Lacking a full text, one cannot fully digest the statement issued by Pope Paul VI on the development of peoples but the basic principle involved is clear from the wire service summaries of the message. That principle is that men do not live in the world by themselves, that the responsibility of people and nations extends throughout the world.

What often is not understood is that the fulfillment of that responsibility is to one's own advantage as well as the advantage of those to whom it is directed. The idea is not new nor is it highly complicated but it is often forgotten in the struggle of the competitive and demanding environment in which we live. Life is not an easy thing under any circumstances and its adversities have a tendency to narrow our thinking and warp our personalities. The greater our personal burden becomes, the more inward we tend to look. The idea that charity begins at home has more than one meaning.

To One's Own Benefit

It is your primary obligation to make of your own life the greatest success possible. This means different things for different people because no two of us are endowed with the same assets, liabilities and potentialities. Thus, our ambitions, too, are different from one person to the next. Therefore, making the most of your life does not mean to achieve a certain income level, a certain social acceptance or a certain position of influence.

It simply means, rather, that you not waste the time and talents with which you are gifted and that you are guided by fundamental principles of human decency and understanding. But in looking at our responsibilities of self, we can easily come to overlook the logical extension of this responsibility to others.

We can put ourselves first but not alone. We can put our family ahead of others but not to the total exclusion of the latter. This is the kind of thing spoken of by Pope Paul in his latest message to the world. His emphasis was upon what we might call the secondary nature of individual responsibility—the obligation to consider and take positive action to help others achieve the success and meaning in life to which they are entitled. In doing this, the Pope rejected the idea that private property and free commerce are absolute rights, saying that help for those who lack basic needs must come first. The thoughtless person will condemn this as a foreign ideology, an undermining of the principles of free enterprise and individual liberty as we have cultivated them in this nation.

And their displeasure will be heightened by the Pope's rejection of unlimited capitalism as a "woeful system" that sees profit as the key to economic progress. Perhaps the final blow in the minds of skeptics will be the Pope's suggestion that more taxes be put on the wealthy to help meet the cost of aid programs for the poor, for better regulation of international trade and for expropriation of estates if the way they are run blocks a country's general prosperity. Some of the latter statement has more meaning in the underdeveloped nations of the world than in the United States and this should be understood. At the same time, the operation of estates in conflict with the general prosperity of a nation is not without local meaning.

Put another way, this matter of estates might be viewed as an excessive concentration of wealth and no nation can afford to be totally oblivious to this problem. In what he said, did the Pope really attack democracy, capitalism, the free enterprise system or any such similar concepts?

He, of course, did not. What he pointed out was the well known truth that a state of perfection in any regard has not yet been reached by any society. Our government, economic system and social order we believe to be advanced over the rest of the world but do we really understand them and do we consider them flawless as they now exist?

Do we understand that their interests are best served by the diminution of outside threats, threats from the frustrations of societies saddled with social and economic disparities that take a heavy toll of their human pontentialities? Do we fully understand that democracy and the free enterprise system include a fundamental concept of general welfare and well being? For one man to succeed in our economic system requires at least a degree of success on the part of hundreds or thousands of others. No one can make a profit on a penniless population.

Understanding In Full

On a wider scale we can see the extension of this truth to the continents and nations of the world and its easy compatibility with the moral theology that concerns the Pope. We are asked to give up or change nothing that we hold dear, but rather, to seek its entrenchment through a logical application of its obvious realities to an ever widening circle of influence. Only in vain will we seek calm waters in the middle of an ocean in tumult.

A Difference Of Mind

The county prosecutor in the affected part of Florida didn't take too kindly to the antics of several thousand college kids who went down to celebrate spring.

After viewing the empty beer cans on the beach and witnessing the general disorder while they were there and the mess after they left he officially invited them never to return. His words were sharp.

Many will agree with him because they are past their youth and can no longer appreciate what moves young hearts.

Still we are inclined to agree with the Denver Post which observed, "Let us wait a few years and see what becomes of these youthful beachcombers. If they become staid citizens in due time and in their turn rage at their children for doing what they once did, we will have little ground for complaint."

All youth has always been hard to live with during the early spring days. The long winter is over, the confinement is at end. There is a great call to action. Even older people stump about and dream great dreams lacking only the will and vigor to fulfill them.

There was a time when it was less evident. This was once an agricultural nation and the spirited young men worked it off plowing the west eighty. But that can't be done anymore. Yet it has not destroyed the strong will to action. Moreover, the disapproval held for youth by the older generation has no end.

A Worker For Lincoln

Some men are active in their church, some are active in their business or professional organizations, some take on many and varied civic responsibilities, some have a keen interest in charitable work, some find an outlet in politics, some like to work in youth activities, etc. Obviously, there are a lot of things for a person to do in serving the community and state in which he lives.

Then, there are a few men who do a number of things and some who seem to do them all. Among the latter, and there are not many, is Myron (Mike) Weil, former executive vice president of the National Bank of Commerce Trust and Savings Association and now affiliated with banking interests in Iowa.

In changing the direction of his business interests, it is hoped that Mr. Weil will be able to maintain his base of operations in Lincoln. He is the kind of personal asset to a community that is greatly needed.

There have not been many things Mr. Weil has not done on a voluntary basis for Lincoln. While both his children are girls, Mr. Weil has been an officer in the Lincoln Boy Scout Council, has received the Silver Beaver Award and has contributed heavily of his time and talents in this field of work.

He has been president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, headed the Community Chest drive, been an officer of the Lincoln Foundation, been active in county political affairs, been an officer of local, state and national business organizations and been an active member of his faith. He has unselfishly helped to build Lincoln never failing to succeed in that which he was asked to do and undertook. His continued residence in Lincoln would be highly valued and appreciated.

Communications Problem

We went to a funeral of a former employe — a boy who had quickly developed into a successful business man and had become in the course of eight or nine years an outstanding weekly editor. He died suddenly at the halfway mark of man's normal expectancy.

When the time came to say farewell, farmers left their fields, business men locked up their stores. Housewives left their kitchens. The school children quietly left their class rooms. All gathered at the church. They filled the building, even the balcony and the Sunday school rooms. More lingered outside. It was the biggest, the most representative expression of sorrow we had ever witnessed in behalf of a newspaper man — for a man who had little to give beside deeds and words. A half a county lost something it prized most highly when he departed.

How does such honor come to a man and to the field of journalism?

It can't be found in the balance sheet. It is not measured by the size of the community nor in the massiveness of circulation. Nor can it be found in college degrees nor in elaborate equipment.

We believe that most of it can be found in a God-given talent for communication and in the ability never to get too big so as to lose it. For instance, it is necessary to deal in big statewide budgets and to gather the news from the top of organizations, but it is equally necessary to keep in mind that a tuition raise actually translates down to a number of young people who will thus be deprived of an education. A week of drought may do damage in the millions but it also means that someone will be unable to make the mortgage payment.

We recall this young man was drafted for wartime duty in Korea. He could have obtained an exemption but he said, "No one wishes to risk or lose his life. But I mean to live with my generation and I don't want to be a partial citizen. I will go."

Latin Americans Demanding Results

SANTIAGO — "The Latin American people are developing a critical viewpoint," said President Eduardo Frei Montalva of Chile. "They are not interested in dinners and speeches. They want results. They consider President Johnson a doer, a pusher, and with his push, if nothing is accomplished at the summit conference they will be disappointed."

President Frei was of the opinion that the most important accomplishment at the summit conference probably would be through regional agreements.

He did not elaborate, but already Central America is working on its own joint economic problems through a common market; Bolivia is talking about piping gas to the industrial city of Sao Paulo in Brazil; Venezuela and Colombia are working on their mutual problems; and the only way to solve the joint problems of Peru, Bolivia, and Chile is through treaties on irrigation and access-to-the-sea agreements.

Some of these Latin American problems can no more be settled without co-operation by neighbors than the state of New York can prevent air pollution over Manhattan without getting agreements from the state of New Jersey.

And for centuries in Latin America this co-operation has been absent. Instead there have been the same national rivalries which churned up western Europe until it combined to form the now prosperous common market.

☆ ☆ ☆

President Frei had told me in some detail about the importance of education in Chile and the advances his administration had made in building schools and training teachers. I asked him why, if education was so important, Chile was spending money on new British Hawker Hunter fighter planes which Chile did not need unless for use against her neighbors.

"There are only 21 planes, and they cost only $20 million," President Frei shot back. "All of our present planes are out of date, and the Air Force has needed new planes to train young pilots. These new British Hunters are not even supersonic. We develop our pilots from the Air Force for commercial aviation.

"The Chilean navy wanted a carrier," said President Frei, "but I said no, we couldn't afford it. However, we could afford these new British Hunters."

"Why don't you eliminate rivalry between the military of Latin American countries by training your troops jointly, just as the NATO armies are trained jointly between West Germany, Belgium, and the Netherlands?" I asked.

President Frei said he never thought of this but said he would keep an open mind.

☆ ☆ ☆

Frei was elected president in a bitter battle with Dr. Salvadore Allenda, who had the all-out support of the communist and socialist parties and who campaigned on a promise to expropriate all foreign property in Chile. Frei and the Christian Democratic party also made promises about curtailing American copper influence. Whichever side won, it looked bad for the huge Anaconda and Kennecott copper interests which have long dominated the economy of Chile.

Woman Talks To Women Of Money

NEW YORK—We approacheth now the month of April, on the 15th which of it behooveth us to dwell upon our riches and then render unto the government that which is its.

If this language sounds stilted, it is because after a few tax conferences with my accountant, I find that the time (not to mention my nose) is out of joint.

Well, I was pondering the subject of money and whither it flits the other day when a charming woman named Harriet Bell came in and flung herself on a chair. She, too, had been in conference with her C.P.A. and was temporarily unnerved. Mrs. Bell is an investment counselor, and as such has perhaps a more than average aversion to saying farewell to the profits.

"You know," she said casually, "There are still some women who are a little afraid to go to a stock brokerage firm to ask advice. There's a lot of the old bugaboo about stocks—the feeling that you've got to know technical terms, that you ought to know "what's going on" in the market before you invest your hard-earned savings.

☆ ☆ ☆

"You don't have to know what's going on in the market—how could you? Brokerage firms employ hundreds of people full time, and spend millions of dollars, to find out what's happening. How can one person do that in their spare time? And yet some women feel shy because they're not in the know."

Mrs. Bell's specialty is talking to women investors, and her heart goes out—genuinely—to the ones she's just described. She holds kaffee klatsches and teas (as a result of which, she sells more mutual funds for her company than any man in all the divisions), at which she tries to convince women to be both sensible and selfish about their monies. "All I do, really, is to motivate people to think about themselves. A woman has worked for 20 years, and I ask her to think 'what has she got?' The answer, often, is memories of three trips around the world, a closet full of clothes and maybe a savings account or some annuities."

Concluded Mrs. Bell: "Money goes fast today, if you leave it lying around or spend it on impulse. You go to a doctor, a lawyer or an accountant and then you take their advice. Go to a top broker, if you want to have a sound economic future, and try his advice.

"Your money should work as hard for you as you work for it."

That is, if you have any left—two weeks from Saturday.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you discuss aplastic anemia. Can you contract it from others who have it? Or is it in the same category as cancer and leukemia? What are the symptoms?—MRS. W.H.

The outward symptoms of aplastic anemia are the same as those of severe blood loss: Weakness, pallor, shortness of breath. The cause is considerably different.

Molner

Anemia in general is a lack of sufficient red cells or a lack of necessary components (principally iron) in the cells. There are various causes, among them loss of blood—unusually heavy menstrual periods, a bleeding ulcer, hemmorrhoids or other conditions which cause a continuing drain.

Aplastic anemia is different in this respect: the bone marrow, which manufactures red blood cells normally, fails to do so in this disease, or it does not produce enough of them.

This can result from various types of poisoning, some of them being from benzol, or from metals such as arsenic, mercury or lead. Overwhelming infection can be a factor. Certain medications can be toxic in some cases. And there are cases in which we cannot determine the cause.

Since the condition involves an actual shortage of red blood cells, the use of Vitamin B-12 folic acid or iron so useful in some forms of anemia does not help aplastic anemia.

Rather the treatment is based on repeated transfusions to keep the patient comfortable and active. Since the life span of a red blood cell is from 60 to 90 days, the transfused cells are gradually lost and another transfusion must then be given.

Aplastic anemia is not contagious. Neither is it in any sense similar to cancer or leukemia. It is the consequence of the bone marrow being unable to produce adequate numbers of red cells and being unable to respond to stimulation as from B-12 or folic acid.

Dear Dr. Molner: I noticed that my sinus problems were greatest when I was spending a great deal of time driving. I finally noted that the heater and fan were operating with the windows all tightly closed. The excess air had no place to go so it became compressed and irritated the sinuses. Does this make sense? Since then I have always made sure that a vent is open and I have had no more sinus problems. —MRS. C.C.

Thank you for your helpful suggestion but I strongly suspect that the reason for its success is a bit different. I cannot agree that air in the car could become compressed to a degree that would make any difference.,

However, hot, dry air, forced by the fan, can create a dryness of the nasal membranes that can be decidedly irritating. Thus keeping a vent open can make a world of difference, as it did in your case. I am sure others will benefit.

There are other reasons, sometimes more urgent, for seeing that a cowl or other vent is open, or the windows rolled down a bit. It is a safeguard against a leaky exhaust which can fill a car with a dangerous amount of carbon monoxide before you know it.

It also prevents icing of windows and windshield, or fogging which can occur in humid weather.

And while I'm on the subject of safety — how about your seat belt? Do you use it every time you drive?

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 76, broke my hip six years ago, and always carry a cane. Which side should I carry it on? I now carry it on the left, although it was the right hip that was broken. —MISS A.G.

I gather that someone is trying to tell you that there's a right side and wrong side. Well, there isn't. Carry the cane on the side that gives you the most support and sense of security and balance.

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother has a condition on her feet that I believe is called hammer toe. Exactly what is this condition? Will it cripple her? She is in constant pain and has difficulty walking. Can it be cured by surgery? Should she see a foot specialist? This has been going on for years and I would like to see her free of pain. She is 56. —MRS. J. R.

Hammer toe is a deformity in which the toe is bent downward. It usually involves the second toe, but sometimes others. Wearing shoes a little too short is the commonest cause.

It will not cripple your mother, but it will continue to be painful and make her hobble around, and it is not uncommon for the pain to be intensified by the formation of callus or even an ulcer at the tip of the toe.

Wearing shoes that are long enough, together with splinting the toe to draw it back to normal position, sometimes succeeds, but if the condition has continued too long, this may not work, and surgery may be necessary. For this she should consult an orthopedic surgeon.

Dr. Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Civil War

Lincoln, Neb.

I am writing about your editorial of March 24, "Pertinent Vietnam Question." It seems to me to contain a basic misconception which is at the root of our ill-starred Asian adventure.

You say the war was started by North Vietnam, and speak of one nation's attacking another. Actually, the war started as a domestic rebellion against the government of South Vietnam, and both we and the North Vietnamese have been intervening on opposite sides in a domestic civil war.

South Vietnam's status as a "nation" is rather debatable. It is the recent product of a partition of the Vietnamese nation — a partition which was originally supposed to be temporary but which became permanent when we encouraged the rulers of South Vietnam to violate the Geneva Agreements of 1954. Our position in South Vietnam is about as legitimate as would have been the position of Great Britain in 1861, if the British had first recognized the Confederacy and then sent an expeditionary force over here to protect the South against northern aggression.

If this is simply a war against foreign aggression on behalf of a South Vietnamese nation, how do you explain the fact that the Saigon government is dominated by northern refugees like Ky? How do you explain the fact that most of the men fighting against us are South Vietnamese? How do you account for the fact that we have to burn and destroy so many native villages in the South and engage in grotesque punitive expeditions complete with the burning of family shrines and the shooting of household pets?

And how does your analysis square with current predictions by hawks like the Alsop brother to the effect that, even after Hanoi withdraws its 50,000 troops from the South, we shall have to spend five to 10 years and employ several hundred thousand men to pacify the countryside and hunt down the Last Viet Cong sympathizer?

The truth is that we have been gulled into an enterprise of unlimited scope and duration on behalf of a cause that is questionable at best. This is a war we can "win" only by exterminating or relocating a large proportion of the rural population of South Vietnam, at great cost to ourselves and at the price of staining our national honor. Nor is our national interest being served. Instead of bolstering the truly defensible nations of South and Southeast Asia, we allow their problems to fester while we concentrate all our energies on this sordid civil war, in the only Asian nation where communism enjoys mass popular support stemming from the struggle against French colonialism.

Short Lesson

Hastings, Neb.

I once gave a 14-year-old boy more valuable education in 10 minutes than he had received at home in 14 years.

He was a newcomer and had just attended a party in a very religious old lady's home. A few reckless roughnecks had had a lot of fun doing things the old lady did not approve of, and my young friend joined in the thought that it was a great sport.

After he had finished his big laugh, I told him that there was one thing he could always depend on. He could go to a sale and buy a big truckload of cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry, etc., and bring it home and turn them all loose, and they would all find their own flocks. It was the same way with people, I told him. You don't need to ask them; just turn them loose and they will soon find and join their own class.

Well, the boy that had had so much fun tormenting the old lady got the first real picture of himself and he did not like the picture. He was a while getting his eyes under control, but after that he was a different person. He worked hard at it and made it his most important business.

Not enough people realize the importance of youth guidance and what it takes. It is easier to do it right than wrong.

Keeping Watch

Hastings, Neb.

Governor Tiemann says he has watched Statehouse employes catching a bus for home and is sure the employes clean off their desks at 4:45 in order to catch the bus. He says he will request the bus company to change their schedule to suit him so the bus will arrive there 10 minutes later. He contends he is doing that to save the taxpayers money!

Perhaps the taxpayers should get the services of certified public accountants to check on the cost of the time the governor spends watching Statehouse employes catching a bus for home at the end of a day's work.

I have been in Nebraska only 65 years and six months, so I do not know the size of the state, but I had thought it was big enough to keep a governor busy enough that he wouldn't have time to figure out a bus schedule for any company operating in Lincoln.

Life Begins At 40:

Poorhouse Poem Had Big Impact

By ROBERT PETERSON

Most people have never heard of Will M. Carleton. Yet half a century ago this Michigan farm poet's, "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse," stirred the nation.

It not only awakened society to the tragedies and inhumanities faced by countless older people of the time, but helped create public demand for a Social Security program. It is not exaggerating to say that this moving poem did as much for old age as Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" did for slavery.

It's a lengthy, rambling poem—21 verses, in fact—in which an elderly woman reminisces in poignant rhyme about her carefree childhood, her happy marriage and the joys of motherhood.

She recalls how she and her husband loved and pampered their six children who, one by one, married and left home. The years passed and then tragedy struck when her husband died and she was left without a home and funds and had to turn to her children.

Despite its vintage and corny phrasing the poem still tugs at one's emotions as we read how the mother went to her children and told of her plight, only to be greeted with thin excuses as to why they could not care for her. She was shifted from one to another until the children, "finally went to the poormaster and put me on the town."

The sad climax goes, "Over the hill to the poorhouse — my child'rn dear, goodbye. Many a night I've watched you when only God was nigh; and God'll judge between us; but I will always pray. That you shall never suffer the half I do today."

That's the way it was in the old days. But, fortunately, that's all history now. Elders without means today can receive Old Age Assistance under the Social Security Act, which permits basic needs to be met without having to throw themselves on the mercy of their children or face the indignities of the poorhouse.

After mentioning this poem in a recent column, I received a letter from Mary Carr of Los Angeles who said, "Maybe you were too young to see the picture, but I played the mother in the film, "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse" which was made in 1920.

"The picture was made when the late William Fox happened to visit a vaudeville house where an eloquent actor of the day recited the poem as part of his act. Mr. Fox was so moved by the poem and its electrifying effect on the audience that he hired writers to prepare a screen play and then produced the movie which proved very popular despite the public's avowed preference those days for vamps and Pearl White thrillers.

A letter from the city manager of Hillsdale, Michigan-Carleton's hometown — states that the public poorhouse in the poem still stands and attracts many tourists. He says he'll send a free copy of this poem to those who request one from him and enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If you would like a booklet "Selecting a New Career After Forty" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs. Copyright, 1967, King Feat. Synd., Inc.

'Little Nobby' Hops For State Solons

Lt. Gov. John E. Everroad introduced the Legislature Wednesday to Nebraska's first candidate for the state centennial frog.

He called the creature "Little Nobby."

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann wants Nebraska to enter a frog in California's Calaveras County frog jumping contest in May. Everroad was assigned to receive entrants and make a selection.

Taking his cue, he brought a mechanical variety to the legislative chamber and sent it a-hopping across his desk. Live members of the species are due any day.

Tentative Agreement Dividing Mountain, Central Time Zones Reached

Nebraska interests appeared Wednesday night to be virtually agreed on a new time zone line separating the mountain zone from the central zone in the state.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann met with six senators from the affected area Wednesday afternoon and tentative agreement was reached on a division which would put Cherry County totally in the mountain time zone, and such counties as McPherson, Lincoln, Hayes and Hitchcock totally in the central time zone.

The status of Hooker and Thomas Counties remained in question.

Counties in the vicinity of the time zone line had been requested to state a preference as to which zone they preferred to be in, and Wednesday's tentative agreement on a time line reflected those wishes.

Thomas County, however, asked to retain its present line, which puts approximately the western fourth of the county, including Seneca, in the miuntain zone, and the remainder in the central zone.

The wishes of Hooker County, just west of Thomas County, had not been received.

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway promised to contact the two counties and try to make a determination, but said Wednesday night that the question had not yet been settled.

Gov. Tiemann and his executive assistant, Clayton Yeutter, recommended against bisecting counties with the new time line.

If Hooker were in the mountain zone and Thomas in the central zone, the counties making up the tier of westernmost counties in the central zone would include Keya Paha, Brown, Thomas, McPherson, Lincoln, Hayes and Hitchcock. The easternmost counties in the mountain zone would include Cherry, Hooker, Arthur, Keith, Perkins, Chase and Dundy.

Under the Federal Uniform Time Act of 1966, the time zone lines established by Congress in 1918 must be adhered to, effective April 1. That line bisects Brown, Custer, Furnas, Harlan, Lincoln, Logan, McPherson and Red Willow Counties.

A dozen Nebraska counties have in the past exercised a local option to deviate from the time line, and these are the counties principally affected by the April 1 adherence deadline.

The Legislature Wednesday adopted 39-0 a resolution forcy asking the governor to recommend the time line changes "needed to prevent hardships and to advance the general welfare."

City Planning Bill Moves; 2 Others Held

A bill strengthening the authority of First Class cities to control plans for subdivisions and street layouts drew no opposition at a public hearing before the Legislature's Urban Affairs Committee Wednesday.

The bill in amended form was sent to the floor on a 7-0 vote.

Sens. Don Elrod of Grand Island and Leslie Robinson of Kearney sponsored the measure, LB821.

Held for consideration of improving amendments and later disposition was LB865, a government committee bill requiring emergency switches to open doors on automatic elevators in case of fire.

Also held was Omaha Sen. George Syas' LB777, which would require the Douglas County Board to ignore any valuation increases ordered by the State Board of Equalization in certifying property tax mill levies. The bill was opposed by the Douglas County Board.

NASON ON EDUCATION:

All Students Must Learn To Think As They Read

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

How can you check your child's reading ability?

A parent stated proudly, "Our son is a good reader. His third grade teacher often selects him to read stories to the class."

I talked with Tom's teacher. She explained that he was an expert at reading aloud. He enunciated each word clearly and scarcely stumbled, even over words that were new to him.

However, just a few days before our discussion, she had discovered that Tom was strictly a word reader. He had placed his entire attention on the recognition and pronunciation of each word in turn. Having read a story to the class, he had little idea of what he had read.

His teacher is now attempting to have Tom study and think as he reads, so that can learn to comprehend meaning.

Long-Range Effect

The habit of concentrating too much on pronunciation can affect a student's reading comprehension all through his school years.

When the success of beginner readers is determined by their ability to read, aloud, supposedly good pupils eventually become underachievers. They can be spotted in elementary school, high school and college, or in adult life. They all complain that although they read material two or three times, they still lack a clear picture of the content.

Rapid reading also has its pitfalls for the unwary. In rapid reading, words must be seen and understood but not pronounced, meanings must be grasped from groups of words. Lip movement or simulated hearing must be avoided. However, in addition the most important basic skill must be developed—what the eye sees on the printed page must bring meaning in the brain.

All Skills

If a student wishes to become proficient in all phases of reading procedure, he must give his attention to the development of the skills involved. In reading new material, he may need to give word-by-word attention in discovering the meaning, even making use of a dictionary.

Only after the meaning has been discovered, should he turn the center of his attention to gaining speed in the reading involving this new vocabulary.

To be a successful reader, a student must think as he reads. Failure to do this takes many forms. Here is an extreme example: Jay's first grade teacher realized that each time he was asked to read a page, he would wait until she cued him with the first two or three words, then he seemingly read the page perfectly. When she realized that he needed a cue to start, she became suspicious and asked Jay to find words on the page. This he could not do. He was memorizing from listening to other children read.

Train Kills Girl Removing Rocks Placed On Tracks

Redwood City, Calif. (AP)—Little Ricki Henderson heard older children say that rocks they had placed on a Southern Pacific Railway track could derail a train. She knew such pranks were wrong.

The 5-year-old girl walked down the tracks to remove some rocks placed there by older boys. She was killed by a train, Sheriff's Investigator Peter Katsumis said.

Normal Board Rejects 'Fear' Policy Charges Against Wayne State

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Normal Board ruled Wednesday that Assistant Professor Brice J. Wilkerson's claimed grievances against the Wayne State College administration were "totally unsupported by any evidence presented to the board."

In rejecting Wilkerson's claims of lack of academic freedom and a "fear" policy of the college's administrator, the board said it was "appalled at the complete irresponsibility" demonstrated by the speech instructor.

In an unanimous decision announced by Board President James M. Knapp of Kearney, the board affirmed the censure of Wilkerson by the Wayne Senate Faculty.

Wilkerson listed in a March 9 hearing before the board 19 so-called grievances against Wayne President William A. Brandenberg and the college administration, charging that Dr. Brandenberg had intimidated and harassed the faculty.

The board said the evidence presented by Wilkerson "overwhelmingly refutes his self-proclaimed posture as a teacher battling for academic freedom and, rather, reveals in sum a young man whose actions seem based far more on immature and irrational emotion than on logic and fact."

It said Wilkerson engaged in "innuendo and emotional tantrums" and "utterly failed to produce a scintilla of evidence to support any one of his so-called 19 grievances."

The board reaffirmed its "marked admiration for and pride in" the administration of President Brandenberg, his administrative staff and faculty members."

"The extreme concern for the protection of Mr. Wilkerson's rights and privileges exhibited by President Brandenberg and the Wayne faculty is demonstrative of the high professional and ethical standards existing at Wayne State College."

Wilkerson announced his displeasure with the college administration after Norman Hoegberg, an assistant English professor, was suspended for staging a "sit-out" demonstration.

Hoegberg, protesting what he termed a "fear" policy of the administration, resigned effective April 19, but Dr. Brandenberg recommended he be dismissed effective Jan. 31.

Knapp said the Normal Board has not reached a decision in the Hoegberg case.

Liquor License Control Bill Is Withdrawn By Carpenter

By Associated Press

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter received legislative permission Wednesday to withdraw his LB831, which would have authorized the Omaha and Lincoln city councils to limit approval of liquor-by-the-drink licenses.

"I don't want to interfere with the responsibilities" of the State Liquor Control Commission, Carpenter said.

Earlier, a legislative committee killed a bill which would have given local governing boards control over location of liquor outlets.

The Legislature also authorized Lincoln Sen. Roland E. Luedtke Wednesday to withdraw his LB606, which would have changed dates for filing protests with the County Board of Equalization.

Humboldt Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes received permission to withdraw her LB818, which would have required walkways on all railroad bridges.

The Legislature received and laid over Hooper Sen. Ross H. Rasmussen's request for authority to withdraw LB793, which would provide for agreements between the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds and owners of improvements on school lands as to value.

Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner moved to revive his LB300, which would provide that access roads from each city or village of 100 population or more, to the state highway system, shall be a part of the system.

The bill was killed by the Public Works Committee.

State Aid Bill Changed To Apply To 9 Junor Colleges

By Associated Press

The Nebraska Legislature Wednesday increased from seven to nine the number of junior colleges which could benefit from the pending bill to provide state aid to such colleges and to the Municipal University of Omaha.

Lawmakers also reduced from $75 million to $65 million the assessed valuation which a district would be required to have before it could establish a junior college.

The unanimous consent actions came as the bill involved, LB490, showed up on select file for routine advancement toward the final reading stage.

The bill would provide state aid to junior colleges and freshman and sophomore equivalents at the University of Omaha at the rate of $7.50 per credit hour, or the equivalent of $112.50 per semester per Nebraska student on the basis of an average student load of 15 hours.

A third unanimous consent amendment adopted Wednesday removed the emergency clause from the bill. That means the bill won't take effect until three months after adjournment of the current legislative session.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, chief sponsor of LB490, said that with the emergency clause stricken from the bill, the state aid is expected to cover the second semester of the 1967-68 school year, calculated when the second semester ends in May or June.

The request to increase the number of aided junior colleges from seven to nine came from Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln, who said he was afraid Lincoln "might be left out" by the seven-school limit.

The state presently has five junior colleges—at Norfolk, McCook, Fairbury, Scottsbluff and North Platte. Grand Island will ballot April 4 on creation of a junior college in that city.

The request to lower the necessary assessed valuation for creation of a junior college from $75 million to $65 million came from Sen Lester Harsh of Bartley. Harsh said he had visited with ailing Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa, who has been absent while recovering from a March 13 heart attack, and Nore requested the change.

Nore had reported earlier that Columbus is planning a junior college but said the proposed district's assessed valuation was only about $63 million.

Ruhnke has estimated that aid to the affected schools under LB490 would amount to about $860,000 a year for Omaha University, $91,000 for McCook, $96,000 for Scottsbluff, $72,000 for Fairbury, $75,000 for North Platte and $92,000 for Norfolk.

Municipal Spokesmen Seeking Highway Funds

Municipal spokesmen Wednesday urged the Legislature's Public Works Committee to approve a bill which would allocate some $2 million a year for construction and improvement of state highway system connecting links in cities.

The measure, LB249, signed by Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, would allocate 10% of the federal aid primary fund and 10% of the federal aid secondary fund to the new urban highway fund.

The state would be required to match the federal funds with state highway revenue.

Under the formula, according to former State Engineer L. N. Ress of Omaha, the fund would be supplied annually by about $770,000 in federal primary money, $270,000 in federal secondary funds and $1,040,000 in state matching funds.

No opposition testimony was presented, and the bill was held by the committee for later action.

Also heard and held for later consideration were LB806, providing annual safety inspections for motor vehicles, and LB578, establishing a safety code for motor vehicles used to transport workers to and from their places of employment.

LB578 was opposed by the Associated General Contractors and spokesmen for Nebraska railroads.

No opposition was expressed to LB806, which provides for inspections beginning Jan. 1, 1969 at an annual cost of $2 per vehicle.

Each official inspection station would retain $1.75 and remit 25 cents to the Department of Motor Vehicles to pay costs of administering the act.

The Nebraska New Car Dealers Association, told the committee that the fee should be $3.50 if inspection stations are to recover actual costs of the service.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, sponsor of LB806, said the bill will be needed if Nebraska is to meet new federal highway safety standards and prevent loss of federal funds.

LB249 attracted support from representatives of the League of Nebraska Municipalities, Omaha, Lincoln, Grand Island and North Platte.

Spokesmen for the Department of Roads and Better Nebraska Association, supported the bill, but told the committee that both urban and rural road problems can only be solved through additional highway user revenue.

Reagan Worries About Favorite Son Candidacy

Sacramento, Calif. (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan of California said Wednesday he will not withdraw from the 1968 Nebraska and Oregon presidential primaries if his name goes on the ballot.

Reagan told a news conference that to do so would complicate his prospective "favorite son" candidacy in the California primary.

The new Republican chief executive said he has repeatedly discouraged the entering of his name in any presidential primaries outside of California.

Regarding such an entry in Nebraska or Oregon, Reagan said, quote, "I won't do anything to encourage it." He added he would not show up for any such primaries and would not campaign.

Reagan said that to withdraw from other state primaries would require him to sign an affidavit that would make it difficult for him to become a favorite son candidate in Californa.

French Launch N-Sub

Cherbourg, France (AP) — France took another long step into the atomic age Wednesday.

President Charles de Gaulle launched the first French nuclear-powered submarine that will be able to deliver polaris-type missiles when it becomes fully operational in 1970.

De Gaulle glowed with pride and applauded heartily after the 7,900-ton Redoutable splashed into the gray waters off the Cherbourg naval arsenal. In presenting medals to workmen who aided in constructing the submarine, he called it an important day for France's defense and independence.

Nuclear Warheads

Defense Minister Pierre Messmer said the Redoutable is the first of a series that will become part of France's delivery system for its atomic and eventually hydrogen warheads.

The keel for the second nuclear-powered submarine will be laid in May, with completion scheduled for 1972. A third will be finished in 1975. Messmer said that others could follow at two-year intervals. Naval officers are pressing for a fleet of five.

Pentagon Denies Vietnam War To Strain Freight Forces

Washington (AP) — A Senate subcommittee reported Wednesday — and the Pentagon denied—that U.S. air and sea transportation forces "will be stretched to the limit" to support massive military operations in Vietnam.

The subcommittee pinpointed as one potential trouble area a breakdown rate of old ships pulled out of the mothball fleet — some 20 to 27 years old. This was placed at 5.2%, more than double the 2.5% rate for the privately owned commercial fleet under charter for Vietnam service.

The Defense Department conceded there have been problems, but blamed them on a lack of unloading and handling facilities in Vietnam, not a ship shortage. And the Senate report itself noted a great improvement in the berthing and offloading facilities and deliveries.

"Both the intertheater and intratheater transportation requirements of Vietnam are well within the limits of our capability," the Pentagon declared, adding:

"Potentially available U.S.-owned sealift resources could support an operation 2½ times the size of Vietnam today."

And the Pentagon noted that in addition to the airlift now operating in Southeast Asia, the Air Force's 13 C130 squadrons "are still available if the need arises."

The Senate report came from the armed forces preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., and it mixed praise with criticism of the vast Vietnam sea and airlift. The criticism focused on the sealift.

Stennis sent a staff of investigators to Southeast Asia last fall to make spot checks of Vietnam operations. Their report was cleared by Defense department censors and included the Pentagon's replies to some of the criticisms.

The report referred to testimony by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in January that although taxpayers are putting out $750 million annually to subsidize the U.S.-flag fleet for defense needs, these subsidized operators have done little in the Vietnam buildup.

Instead, McNamara said, the Defense Department was forced to pull 161 World War II ships from the government's mothball fleet and to use 73 unsubsidized tramp ships to get thousands of personnel and millions of tons of equipment and supplies to Vietnam.

The report made no reference to recent Senate action in eliminating more than $300 million asked by McNamara to start building a fleet of "floating warehouses."

2 Council Issues To Be Discussed By Church Group

The Social Betterment Division of the Lincoln Council of Churches will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Lincoln Center.

Two issues before the City Council will be discussed — minimum housing standards and liquor licensing polcy.

Attorney Richard Hansen will discuss the housing standards ordinance and attorney John Binning the liquor licensing policy. City Councilman John Mason will be present to comment.

They said Bryan Talbot killed his shameless wife...and they spread a noose for him from one end of New Mexico to the other.

New Nuclear Medical Course Being Conducted

Oak Ridge, Tenn.—A newly developed course in nuclear medical technology, currently under way at the Special Training Division of Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU), represents a growing recognition of the need for more competent personnel in this expanding field.

The course provides four weeks of intensive training and experience in basic medical nuclear physics, nuclear medical instrumentaton and the diagnostic radioisotope procedures now being used in clinical medicine.

PARTICIPATING IN STUDY . . . are Maxine Garl, of Byran Memorial Hospital, Lincoln, and Gilbert Short of Highland Park Hospital, Highland Park, Ill.

Participants are experienced medical technicians who now have, or expect to have, responsibilities in a nuclear medical laboratory. Nuclear medical technicians play a significant role in the use of radioisotopes for medical diagnosis and treatment. Their duties range from preparing, administering and measuring radioisotopes in therapeutic and tracer studies to the use of such nuclear equipment as geiger counters, electroscopes, scintillators and scalers. In addition, they perform such associated studies as blood volume, red cell kinetics, fat absorption, "in vitro" protein-binding tests and rectilinear scanning.

Lectures and laboratory work in the course are conducted in the facilities of the Special Training and Medical Divisions of ORAU. Topics studied include mathematics and counting statistics, data processing, radiation physics, detection and measurement of radiation, nuclear medical instrumentation, clinical applications of radioisotopes and radiation safety. Physicists, nuclear electronics engineers and physicians on the staffs of both ORAU and Oak Ridge National Laboratory serve as lecturers.

Through laboratory exercises students gain experience in the use of single and multichannel gamma-ray spectrometers; liquid scintillation spectrometers; area, linear and whole body scanners; whole body counters; and other specialized equipment.

The course in medical technology is a part of the continuing program at the Special Training Division of ORAU to help meet the widespread demand for personnel able to utilize radioactive materials safely and efficiently. Supported by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, the division's program has evolved through the years from the presentation of one basic course in the use of radioisotopes to include a variety of specialized courses, from one to 36 weeks in duration, for the training of physicians, scientists, engineers, teachers and industrial, federal and state government personnel.

Judge Rules Equalization Board Action Unreasonable

Lancaster District Judge William Hastings Wednesday declared arbitrary and unreasonable action of the Lancaster County Board of Equalization affirming the 1966 appraisal and assessment of real estate and improvements of Lincoln Grain Inc.

In one action brought by Lincoln Grain Inc., Judge Hastings ruled that the actual value of the plaintiff's real estate and improvements be reduced from $2,324,590 to $1,250,000 and the assessed value be reduced from $868,805 to $437,500.

In two other appeals consolidated for trial purposes, brought by Ruth Fink and others including Lincoln Grain, Judge Hastings reduced the actual value from $4,024,155 to $2,597,450 and assessed valued from $1,622,555 to $909,107.50.

In all three actions, the court ruled that the appraised and assessed values of the plaintiffs' real estate as determined by the assessor in 1966 were "unreasonalbe and excessive and exceeded the actual value under the laws of Nebraska."

Japanese Planning Visit To Soviet Union

Expert Links Cosa Nostra, Teamsters, ILA

Washington (UPI)—A federal crime expert Wednesday linked leaders of the Teamsters Union and the International Longshoremen's Association with the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate.

Henry Peterson, chief of the Justice Department's organized crime division, told a national crime conference panel:

"I know to a moral certainty that in the upper echelons there is an amalgamation between the International Longshoremen, Teamsters and Cosa Nostra."

The Teamsters' general vice president, Frank E. Fitzsimmons, termed the statement by Peterson "slanderous" and urged him either to repudiate his remark or present evidence in court.

Fitzsimmons, who is running Teamster affairs while the union president, James R. Hoffa, is in federal prison for jury tampering, sent a telegram of protest to Peterson.

Said 'Slanderous'

"Such slanderous statements should certainly be based upon reliable evidence and not on a 'moral certainty,'" he said. "If you have any evidence which supports your charges, it should be presented in court. If not, we urge that you address the same or an appropriate forum and deny the remarks in fairness to the more than 1.8 million Teamsters and their families across this nation and in Canada."

Peterson, making the charge unexpectedly during a panel discussion, did not amplify his statement during the meeting and later refused to answer reporter's questions about it.

Peterson connected the Cosa Nostra with the two unions after saying that several years ago the Senate Rackets Committee was concerned about a possible merger of the Teamsters and the Longshoremen.

After making his charge of "amalgamation," the panel moderator cut off the discussion. The moderator, Henry S. Ruth, deputy director of President Johnson's crime commission and formerly a member of Peterson's organized crime division, announced, "We're going to move to another subject."

Corruption High

Chief Justice Earl Warren, speaking to the conference, said there was still too much corruption in government — including police departments —which benefited organized crime.

"So long as businessmen in the name of private enterprise associate with hoodlums, accept their business and peddle their influence, communities are bound to be unhealthy," Warren said.

"So long as there are top officials in the community who bring pressure to bear upon law enforcement officers to protect or favor any individual or particular interest, just so long will there be inefficient law enforcement."

Addressing the conference's 600 delegates, many of them critical of Supreme Court decisions restricting police investigations, Warren said, "This is no time for cavil or recrimination. It is a time for self-examination . . . the one thing we must do if we are to succeed is to stick together."

The chief justice also endorsed President Johnson's call for formation of state crime commissions to, as Warren put it," look into every dark corner of the state . . ."

Defective Corvairs Recalled

Detroit (UPI) — General Motors Chevrolet division Wednesday called back 12,602 new Corvairs to correct a possible defect that might cause the steering shaft to snap.

It was the first time Chevrolet's low-priced "economy" car has been affected by the recent wave of publicly announced callbacks.

The auto companies must announce the extent of such callbacks under the provisions of the new federal safety laws.

Chevrolet said, "The shaft in some vehicles may have been incorrectly aligned during assembly of the vehicle. If such misalignment did occur, it could cause binding and subject the shaft to abnormal stresses under certain conditions.

"Should the stress become severe enough or extend over a period of time, the shaft could break and cause a loss of steering," GM said.

Chevrolet said owners of the 1967 models involved would be asked to return their cars to their dealers to have the steering shafts replaced.

The company said two failures had been reported. Both of them occurred while the cars were being parked.

The Corvair, which was fielded by Chevrolet in 1959, was allegedly plagued with some safety problems in its early days and was the particular target of auto safety critic Ralph Nader. There have been other callbacks in the history of the car, but this is the first one since the new rules went into effect.

Consumers Will Pay $675,403 To 71 Counties

Bernard M. DeLay of Norfolk, president of Consumers Public Power District's board of directors, announced Wednesday that checks totaling $675,403.34 will be delivered to county treasurers in Nebraska.

The amount represents the second half of CPPD's payments in lieu of real estate and personal taxes for 1966, and the 5% gross revenue tax based on 1966 revenues from incorporated cities and villages served at retail by Consumers.

The checks have been made payable to the treasurers in the 71 counties where Consumers' properties are located, and have been mailed to the 11 Consumers' district managers for delivery to the treasurers in their districts.

During November, 1966, Consumers made payments of $113,124.24 for the first half of the in lieu of tax payments for 1966. Including occupation taxes of $2,836, this makes a total in 1966 tax money paid out by Consumers of $791,363.58.

CPPD Will Pay County $23,000

Consumers Public Power District will deliver $23,741 to the Lancaster County treasurer in payment of its 5% gross revenue tax based on 1966 revenues, CPPD Director Frederick Wagener of Lincoln announced.

Checks totaling $765,403 have been delivered this year to treasurers in the 71 counties where Consumers property is located.

SEN. HUGHES, AND GOVERNOR'S AIDES 'CLEAR BILLBOARD AIR'

The chief sponsor of a billboard control proposal met Wednesday with one of Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann's top aides "to clear the air" on the measure.

Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes arranged the session after State Engineer John Hossack stated Mrs. Hughes' bill does not comply with requirements of the Federal Highway Beautification Act and that substitute measures would be offered.

Mrs. Hughes, a second-term lawmaker from Humboldt, said Robert Barnett, counsel to the governor, assured her there are no current plans for introducting legislation to replace her bill.

"I was just a little surprised to read Mr. Hossack's remarks since I have been in contact with the governor's office on this matter for some time," she said.

"Mr. Barnett said if any changes need to be made later, they can be taken care of through amendments to my bill. I needed to clear the air."

Hossack told the State Highway Advisory commission on Monday that Mrs. Hughes' bill (LB825) is too liberal and fails to meet outdoor advertising standards embodied in the federal act.

But Mrs. Hughes noted the federal government has yet to finalize billboard control standards so it would be premature to reject her measure.

She said she will ask the Legislature to defer action on the control legislation until the government sets forth specific rules for the states to follow.

The federal act requires the states to implement billboard and junkyard control legislation by 1968 or face possible loss of 10% of its federal road construction money. This would amount to about $3 million a year in Nebraska.

Mrs. Hughts said she does not seek to jeopardize Nebraska's federal highway funds but is "interested in enacting a fair, workable law that we can live with."

Outdoor advertising, the senator added, contributes much to the Nebraska economy and "cannot be arbitrarily told to stop doing business."

State Roads Dept. To Seek $33 Million For New Work

State Engineer John Hossack Wednesday confirmed that the 1967-69 state highway program will call for about $33 million in funding for new projects.

This represents about a 25% reduction from the 1965-67 program of $45,251,000, as previously indicated by Hossack.

While it represents "a reduction in the program of additional work in the next two years, the amount of work actually let in the next two years will be approximately the same as the last two years," Hossack said.

Part of the work will be "a carryover of jobs" from previously-announced programs, he noted.

The "backlog of jobs" was created largely by increasing costs for materials and as a result of new costs imposed by higher standards, Hossack said.

"We have not had enough money to fund all of the previous program," he said.

'Tasty' Pollution Included In Tab

Anstruther, Scotland (AP)—"It is quite common to find two or three shrimps in the bath," said Dr. Ian Mackintosh, 39, general manager of an electronic firm, in refusing to pay his town water bill because, he contended, the water is polluted.

The town council voted he would have to pay for the water but the shrimps are free.

Three cruise ships sailed into Suva harbor this morning and unloaded 3500 shopping mad tourists on this little tropical town (Suva has 50,000 people. About three small streets. And a couple of dozen Hindu tailors who "make you nice suit in one day, sir." They will. And it looks like it.)

The native market is a block from the docks. When the 3500 hit it, the place was a shambles.

"How much is this?"

"Oh'! look at the tortise shell earrings!"

We all got out of the way and into the breezeway bar of the Grand Pacific, trying to look tropical and colorful. At a time like this there's nothing like a cold glass of Foster's Australian beer.

☆ ☆ ☆

The wonderful green Fiji islands lie right on the cruise ship path. It is a free port—no taxes, no duty.

When Britain took the islands from King Cakobau in 1874, they planted sugar cane to build the economy. Unfortunately, Fiji men don't work in the fields. They fish and fight and drink gallons of kava, a root mixture.

"Work in sugar cane?" said the Fijians. "You must be out of your mind. Only women work in the fields."

Britain thereupon imported East Indians. Today they outnumber the Fiji natives. They have their own schools and temples. They run the free port shops selling Japansese cameras, binoculars and Mikimoto cultured pearls.

Air India files in here profitably.

The tourist horde hit the market. And all the East Indian shop keepers got sad looks on their faces. They said:

"Make it six shillings, Madam. I have five children at home and I only make sixpence profit."

It's a colorful market. Piles of green breadfruit. Great purple eggplant. Fresh woven baskets full of clams. Tiny shrimp spread on green leaves. One Fiji shilling (12 cents) for a leaf full.

☆ ☆ ☆

The tortoise shell is excellent here. Translucent and dark and well cut. The metal work — the screws on the earrings —are poor and probably have to be replaced.

Pearl shell is worked well. I bought a very good kava bowl — might be good for salads — at I thought a reasonable price.

I said: "Look, I want you to make a fair profit. But I know a lot of people here. Don't charge me so much that I look foolish."

"Sir," he said, "I give you the best price so I make only two shillings."

One of the local people later asked me how much I paid for it. I told him.

He slapped his forehead and cried, "What You paid What?"

I gather I'd been had.

☆ ☆ ☆

By night time the tourists were staggering back to the ships. Loaded with plunder. Cameras and transistor radios. Shell beads and tapa cloth and straw hats.

Solons Invited To Propose Non-Profit Tax Exemptions

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff Tuesday invited his colleagues to propose which non-profit corporations they would like to see exempted from the corporation income and franchise tax in LB377.

Carpenter has proposed an amendment to exempt only those "created exclusively for religious purposes, any licensed hospital or any orphanage."

However, he said he would be willing to accept additional exemptions for such organizations as the YMCA, the YWCA, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

Carpenter said he only wants the tax to be applied against non-profit corporations "who do make money and are able to pay."

Those would include Ak-Sar-Ben, the Cooper Foundation, the Eppley Foundation, the Elks Club and the Esquire Club in Lincoln, Carpenter said.

Most organizations which deserve to be exempt from the tax would already be exempt under LB377 "because they make no money," Carpenter said.

Ak-Sar-Ben would only pay about $4,000 a year in taxes under the bill, he said, based on its reported net income of $136,000 in 1966.

There are 5,000 non-profit corporations and 40 foundations in Nebraska, Carpenter said, and among them are "those better able to pay taxes than anybody in the world."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha was the first lawmaker to accept Carpenter's invitation to broaden his exemption amendment by proposing addition of the Salvation Army.

The amendment was then held for later consideration along with a Revenue Committee amendment which applies the corporation income and franchise tax to federally tax-exempt corporations unless they are specifically exempted under LB377.

Less Sales Tax For 1969 OK'd

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday agreed on a 26-14 vote to amend the sales-income tax bill to reduce the sales tax rate from 2½% to 2% effective Jan. 1, 1969.

Action followed 19-27 rejection of a proposal to establish the rate at 2% immediately.

In other action, lawmakers buried an amendment to broaden the sales tax exemption on prescription medicines to include all medicines, adopted nine relatively minor amendments and engaged in preliminary discussion on possible taxation of non-profit corporations and foundations.

More amendments will be considered when debate on the measure, LB377, resumes Wednesday.

Led Effort

Sen. Lester Harsh of Bartley spearheaded the successful effort to reduce the sales tax rate in 1969, suggesting that the action would be a signal to taxpayers that the Legislature is interested in economy.

Reduction of the rate would nearly coincide with convening of the 1969 Legislature, which would still be free to act on the sales tax rate in the light of new conditions.

Theoretically, the reduction of the sales tax rate will force the State Board of Equalization in 1968 to shift more of the tax load to the income tax when it establishes rates for fiscal 1968-69.

Vote on the Harsh motion:

For: Adamson, Brauer, Danner, Elrod, Fleming, Gerdes, Harsh, Hasebroock, Klaver, Kremer, Luedtke, Moulton, Moylan, Pedersen, E. Rasmussen, R. Rasmussen, Reynolds, Ruhnke, Simpson, Skarda, Swanson, Waldron, Wallwey, Warner, Whitney, Wylie.

Against: Budd, Burbach, Carpenter, Holmquist, Hughes, Kjar, Kokes, Marvel, Orme, Payne, Proud, Robinson, Stryker, Syas.

Not Voting: Batchelder, Bloom, Carstens, Ely, Knight, Mahoney, Matzke, Nore, Viehmeyer.

Twenty-five votes were required to enact the amendment.

Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice urged that the rate be cut to 2% immediately, arguing that "the lowest possible sales tax" would be most fair to Nebraska wage-earners.

Those are the people "who have no organized voice in the Legislature," Carstens said.

If more funds are needed, it would be better to consider immediate imposition of the corporation income tax, rather than waiting until Jan. 1, 1968, he said.

Otherwise, the Legislature should delay some expenditures until the income tax begins to raise revenue next year, Carstens said.

Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha agreed, noting that he would accept the Carstens proposal as "more realistic" than his own plan to cut the rate to 1½% in 1968.

"I'm interested in the common man because I am a common man," Danner said.

Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr., of Omaha said he would support the Carstens proposal in order to reduce state spending.

But, Sen. Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont said a 2% rate would not raise "sufficient revenue" to fund state programs during the transition period from a state property tax to a combination sales-income tax.

"We would be playing it safe with 2½%," Revenue Chairman Jules Burbach of Crofton suggested.

Burbach noted that Gov. Norbert Tiemann has promised to summon the Legislature into special session in mid-1968 to reduce the sales tax rate if surplus revenue is being raised by LB377.

Vote on the Carstens motion:

For: Bloom, Brauer, Carstens, Danner, Elrod, Harsh, Klaver, Kokes, Mahoney, Moylan, Pedersen, R. Rasmussen, Reynolds, Simpson, Skarda, Waldron, Warner, Whitney, Wylie.

Against: Adamson, Batchelder, Budd, Burbach, Carpenter, Ely, Fleming, Gerdes, Hasebroock, Holmquist, Hughes, Kjar, Kremer, Luedtke, Marvel, Moulton, Orme, Payne, Proud, E. Rasmussen, Robinson, Ruhnke, Stryker, Swanson, Syas, Viehmeyer, Wallwey.

Not Voting: Knight, Matzke, Nore.

Danner offered the amendment to exempt all medicines from the sales tax, whether they are prescription drugs or not.

Burbach said such a broad exemption would "open Pandora's box," and suggested that Danner instead consider attempting to raise the sales tax food credit from $6 per exemption to $7.

Voting with Danner were Senators Bloom, Brauer, Carstens, Klaver, Mahoney, Reynolds, Skarda, Syas and Wallwey.

The amendment was rejected on an 11-33 count.

A number of lawmakers urged consideration of bills to repeal the intangible property tax, two state head taxes and the levy on household goods and replace revenue to local subdivisions before a final vote is taken on LB377.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said he will not vote for LB377 unless those bills are all considered on final reading the same day. None of the tax repeal or replacement bills have yet been considered on the floor.

Carpenter said financing bills for the University of Omaha and junior colleges also should be considered before the tax bill is subjected to a final vote.

Colleagues Sing Birthday Cheer To Sen. Carpenter

Terry Carpenter, Nebraska's all-purpose lawmaker and perenially angry young man, could muster few words to thank his colleagues Wednesday who sang birthday cheer to him.

"I was 67 yesterday and I feel every minute of it," said the Scottsbluff senator, who usually can talk with authority on almost any topic. He then sat down, silently.

Some call him "Terrible Terry." Others have more endearing names. Nevertheless he has etched a place in Nebraska legislative history not soon to be equaled, and probably never surpassed.

Carpenter is currently serving his fifth term in Unicameral. He was re-elected to it November unopposed, an example of the respect in which his district's voters hold him.

Budget Unit OKs DAS Use Of Surplus Funds For $261,000 Deficit

The Legislature's Budget Committee Wednesday gave the Department of Administrative Services (DAS) permission to use surplus funds to cover an estimated $261,000 deficit in fiscal operations for the biennium ending June 30.

The committee action eliminates the necessity for a deficit appropriation bill by the full Legislature.

DAS Director Robert P. Rogers said the deficit could be paid with committee permission from accumulated surpluses, in a supplemental appropriation for social security payments and building and ground funds.

Under questioning by Budget Committee Chairman Richard Marvel, Rogers agreed that most of the deficit resulted from judgement errors made by the previous administration and the fiscal consulting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

Rogers was appointed to the post in late February, succeeding Willard Townsend who headed the new department during its first 18 months.

Rogers said the department and new data processing program for accounting and budget has achieved some significant results, but said "full implementation" cannot be achieved until near the end of the 1967-69 biennium.

He said uniform payroll statistics have been achieved, and more complete expenditure data is being captured on the computer.

Reporting of encumbrances on funds and programs will be in operation no later than July 1, and a complete double-entry, accrual system will be working a year later.

"By the end of the next biennium, we should be providing substantial cost relief to the agencies," he said.

Turning to the major reasons for the shortages, Rogers said site preparation for the new electronic computer cost $75,000 more than estimated.

He said payroll processing costs were under-estimated by $80,000 and accrual accounting by $55,000. Additionally, printing costs for budget preparation cost $23,500 more than anticipated and additional personnel had to be added.

Rogers told the committee that the DAS staff will work closely with departments in reducing their fiscal accounting loads and costs as the new program becomes fully implemented.

He said "substantial reduction in accounting personnel" will be directed in departments under the governor's control when DAS can meet their needs.

For other agencies, he said "moral suasion" will be used coupled with budget recommendations for the 1969-71 biennium.

Marvel expressed his personal confidence in Roger's ability to straighten out "what has been a mess—a big fat mess."

He noted that Peat, Marwick and Mitchell are no longer serving as consultants to the department.

Labor Unit Approves Full-Crew Train Law

The Legislature's Labor Committee gave 4-2 blessing Wednesday to a bill which would have the effect of reinstating a full-crew train law repealed by the 1965 Legislature.

The advancing vote on LB738 followed a public hearing during which railroad unions supported the bill, chiefly as a safety measure, while the railroads opposed it as "an unnecessary law and an unnecessary financial burden on railroads."

James Wilcox of Omaha, a Union Pacific Railroad lawyer speaking for all railroads operating in Nebraska, said LB738 asks the railroad to "go back to 1909" and re-enact an "excess crew law." The intent, he said, is to force railroads to rehire firemen who were dropped under the legislation enacted two years ago.

The 1965 legislation permitting railroads to eliminate the fireman on freight trains sparked some of the livelier debates of that session. The bill was passed with the bare minimum of 25 affirming votes. Sen. Stan Matzke of Milford led the fight for the bill.

The current LB738, chiefly sponsored by Sen. William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha, would require freight trains operation outside yard limits in Nebraska to be manned by a crew consisting of one engineer, one fireman, one conductor and two brakemen, except that main line freights running 100 miles or more would need three brakemen rather than two.

Light engines would need a crew consisting of one engineer, one fireman and one conductor.

Supporting testimony for LB738 came from Dale E. McCoy of Omaha, representing the Nebraska Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; M. J. McNeil of Lincoln, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; C. R. Kuehn of Lincoln, representing the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen, and Richard Nisley of Omaha, president of the state AFL-CIO.

Supporting witnesses cited figures to prove that accidents have increased since train crews were reduced. Wilcox cited accident figures to establish that accidents have not occurred which are attributable to the smaller crews. Ironically, both sides claimed to have obtained their ifgures from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In other action, the Labor Committee killed 4-1 a previously-heard bill, LB627, which would have set minimum qualifications for railroad engineers.

The bill had been supported at a recent public hearing by the same railroad unions which Wednesday supported LB738, but was opposed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The latter union said the measure represented a "jurisdictional invasion."

Amended and reported out 6-0 was LB523, authorizing payroll deductions for governmental employes for participation in employe organization, credit union, charity or public welfare plans.

Jobless Benefits Extended To 15,000 State Workers

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann advised the Legislature Wednesday he has signed into law a bill extending unemployment security benefits to some 15,000 state workers.

But he said he will not approve the coverage under the plan until companion legislation is passed by the lawmakers.

Earlier the governor indicated he might veto the bill, passed 25-16 by the Legislature last week. He said it was premature.

"I am not opposed to the concept of unemployment insurance for state employes but I feel that implementation of such a system is premature at the present time," he said.

Tiemann wants the Legislature to establish a state personnel system first. It would provide for job descriptions and classifications, methods of promotion and appeal procedures for workers.

A personnel system bill (LB816) is presently lodged in the Budget Committee. It has received a public hearing and is expected to be sent to the floor soon.

"When the goals of that system have been achieved, the state will be assured that only qualified employes will be hired," the governor said.

He also said before the unemployment benefits program begins, a thorough study of state government operations should be completed.

He said recommendations from such a study would "raise the employment and operational efficiency of state government to a level considerably above that at which it now stands."

Integration By Fall Ordered In 6 States

New Orleans (AP) — The full 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed Wednesday a far-reaching decision that six Southern states must integrate their public schools from kindergarten up at the start of the fall term this year.

The opinion by the 12-man court endorsed the decision made three months ago by a three-judge panel of the court.

The integration order applies to students, teachers, school transportation and school-related activities.

By an 8-4 vote, the court held in effect that the Constitution requires the states to achieve substantial integration by affirmative action, not merely to desegregate their schools.

More Than Squabbles

The court's opinion said:

"School desegregation cases involve more than a dispute between certain Negro children and certain schools. If Negroes are ever to enter the main stream of American life, as school children, they must have equal educational opportunities with white children."

The court's decision adopted the controversial Department of Health, Education and Welfare guidelines as the standard the states in its jurisdiction must meet. The HEW guidelines set minimum criteria for integrating school systems which accept federal funds, and prescribe the required rate of integration.

Wednesday's ruling directly affects schools in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. As a precedent, it will affect segregated schools nationally.

7 Boards Appealed

The ruling came on an appeal by four Louisiana and three Alabama school boards to the Dec. 29, 1966, decision handed down by a three-judge panel of the court headed by Circuit Judge John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans. Cases before the appeals court normally are decided by three-judge panels.

In its opinion Wednesday, the court held that "boards and officials administering public schools in this circuit have the affirmative duty under the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution to bring about an integrated, unitary school system in which there are no Negro schools and no white schools—just schools."

"Expressions in our earlier opinions distinguishing between integration and desegregation must yield to this affirmative duty we now recognize. In fulfilling this duty it is not enough for school authorities to offer Negro children the opportunity to attend formerly all-white schools. The necessity of overcoming the effects of the dual school system in this circuit requires integration of faculties, facilities and activities, as well as students.

John Doar, assistant U.S. attorney general, had said, "The government wants not white schools and not schools for Negro children—but just plain schools." He said he was not advocating a racial balance in schools.

The HEW guidelines applied only to schools not under court-approved desegregation plans.

A major factor considered by Judge Wisdom's panel in reaching the first ruling in this case was the use of federal courts as shields by some segregation-minded school boards seeking to circumvent HEW. The courts usually left details and procedures up to the local boards.

'Significant Progress'

A key paragraph says desegregation of staff and faculty "must include significant progress beyond what was accomplished" the preceding year in schools where there has been racial segregation.

In districts where "a significant percentage of the students, such as 8 or 9%," moved out of segregated schools last year, "total transfers on the order of at least twice that percentage would normally be expected" the following year, the guidelines state.

The proportional increase desired by HEW rises where the percentage of transfers to desegregated schools was less than the 8 to 9% example. This is to allow a school system starting desegregation late to catch up, HEW explained.

Teenagers Need Adult Help NCCY Meet Told

"Teenagers can and do assume their share of responsibility. We only ask adults for understanding and co-operation," Ric Boese of Sidney informed the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth here Wednesday night.

Boese, chairman of the Sidney Council of Youth, also outlined several projects of the organization at the opening session of the NCCY annual meeting.

Assisting the Chamber of Commerce in attracting industry to the small town, promoting beautification by "tagging" areas needing improvement or setting a good example and sponsoring a teen center were described by the Sidney youth.

Lanny Moles of Seward, Jim Evinger and Janet Shaner, both of Lincoln, also detailed the activities of the local councils of youth to illustrate the kinds of projects undertaken by teenagers in the state.

John Hall, Janet Smith, Dave Peister, and Randall Prier of the Nebraska Council of Youth told some 100 NCCY members and others attending the meeting about the campaign to obtain a vote on a constitutional amendment lowering the voting age, affiliating the 40-50 councils of youth in the state, and projects on the state level.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann, delivering a "challenge to youth and the NCCY," described the move to lower the voting age as "one of the truly significant things from the Legislature.

"Nebraska has seen fit," he declared, "to give responsibility and recognition to young people of the state."

Tiemann also spoke about plans for youth on Omaha's Near North side, including a new YMCA, and a vocational-technical school.

Thursday Dr. Richard Day, Medical advisor to Planned Parenthood-World Population in New York City, will address the NCCY meeting on "Family Planning."

Appointed to the 1967-68 Committee for Children and Youth were:

Miss Norma Carpenter, Byron Dunn, Henry Greenwalt, Mrs. Clifford Jorgensen, Mrs. Joyce Kunkel, Ralph McClintock, Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel, Dr. Virginia Trotter and Rev. N. J. J. Van Greunsven, all of Lincoln; Howard Brace, Rev. Adrian Edgar, Mrs. Virginia Johnson, Lewis Million, R. C. Miner, Mrs. George Robertson, all of Omaha; Mrs. A. W. Koester and Dale Novotny of Alliance; Don Moul and Clara Muir of Fremont; Mrs. Elmira Boblits of Oconto; Mrs. C. B. Dorwart of Sidney; Miss Ruth Ebmeier of Laurel; Galen Frenzen of Fullerton; Mrs. William Greene of Greenwood; Ray Griffin of Aurora; Judge Harry C. Northwest Businessmen Discuss Zoning Needs

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Northwest Lincoln Businessmen's Club members Wednesday told the City Council that the area the club represents needs additional business and multiple dwelling zoning.

The area, comprised largely of Belmont, also includes West Lincoln, Cornhusker Highway and areas south of Cornhusker running to the multiple railroad tracks north of the University of Nebraska.

The session was the second in a series being undertaken by the council in an effort to obtain the sentiment of businessmen toward possible changes in the city's Comprehensive Plan. The first meeting was held in College View.

Karl Witt, Zoning Committee chairman for the club, declared that the Belmont area "should have and eventually will have the same type of zoning, businesses and facilities that the other areas have —commercial uses will gravitate toward the Interstate access area."

There are "gaps" where additional business zoning is needed, plus the need for a zoning category that will permit the location of a liquor license (in Belmont), according to Witt.

He said that additional multiple dwelling zoning in land now zoned for single family dwellings will allow developers to upgrade the existing housing situation.

Grateful

"We are very grateful for all the city has done—it has led the way in developing the area by extending utilities and providing new streets, a pumping station, swimming pool and fire station," Witt pointed out.

City Planning Director Douglas Drogden emphasized that "City Hall has been enthusiastic about the potential growth of Belmont—the area is in a favored position because the Comprehensive Plan calls for further development there."

However, Brogden said, referring to the whole northwest area, "we have to approach the problem of neighborhood needs by comparing it to the entire community.

"If the council gives a neighborhood additional business and multiple dwelling zoning, and also gives it to older neighborhoods, the total might be more than the city as a whole can absorb."

Brogden said that one of his concerns is that "we always talk about our differences—we should get together on the things we agree upon. A lot can be done that we agree upon."

Counellman Ervin Peterson, a member of the council committee in charge of setting up the meetings, said the council will consider the northwest businessmen's position when the Comprehensive Plan is reevaluated.

Accomplished

"We've accomplished something today — we do every time we talk about each other's problems," Peterson said.

Henry P. Reifschneider, 2290 Sheldon, a developer, asked that the council consider a change to multiple dwelling zoning for two other areas of northwest Lincoln:

—The area bounded by the fairgrounds on the east, 9th and 10th on the west, between Oak Creek and Salt Creek. The tract contains eight businesses, 36 homes and 100 people, according to Reifschneider. He said multiple zoning would correct the area's deterioration.

Brogden replied that it is not suited for residential living because of the difficulty in supplying sanitary sewer lines and should probably be turned into park land.

—The North Bottom: roughly the area between the university and Salt Creek, 7th to 15th. Reifschneider said the 80-acre area contains an estimated 400 homes, 1,200 people, two industries and five businesses.

"The general decline could be stopped by the entire area being zoned for multiple family use. We are asking that the North Bottom be given an opportunity to improve itself," he said.

Reifschneider emphatically stated that any consideration given to the matter should not be influenced by the university's expansion need. The only time the university should be listened to is when "they offer to buy the property outright," he said.

Brogden pointed out that it is city policy "that zoning should stand on its own two feet and not be subject to the pressures of any public body's interest."

Wyuka Cemetery Seeking Water Assessment Reversal

Wyuka Cemetery filed a suit in Lancaster District Court Wednesday seeking a reversal of a water district assessment levied by the defendant City of Lincoln against 12 burial lots in the cemetery.

The plaintiff contends that the cemetery property is state property and not subject to assessment and that the assessment was made without regard to the value of the property or benefits, if any, sustained by the property through the improvement.

According to the petition, no benefit can be sustained by the cemetery property from the water district improvement because it is "irrevocably dedicated to cemetery purposes and is held and used only for burial purposes."

Vandals Damage Auto With Paint

Vandals caused about $165 worth of damage to a Lincoln man's car sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning, Lincoln police said Wednesday.

Police sad that the vandals slashed the interior of the car, poured paint over the hood and engine, and fired air gun pellets through the windshield.

The vandals also apparently carried off the transmission and a tire from the car, police said.

'Open Burning Ordinances Will Be Enforced'

Open burning laws will be enforced according to a phase plan of the air pollution control ordinance passed by the City Council in February, Lincoln air pollution and fire officials said Wednesday.

Lester Sanger, head of the pollution control office, said that warning tickets would be given first-time offenders and that any citizen violating the law more than once would be prosecuted during the first phase of enforcement.

Sanger, in a joint press conference with Fire Chief Dallas Johnson indicated that the first phase — allowing one warning ticket before prosecution—would end about the middle of the summer.

He pointed out that violation of the ordinance is punishable by a $500 fine, six months in jail, or both.

"But we want to get public support behind this thing," Sanger said, "because we are trying to prevent air pollution before it becomes a crisis in Lincoln."

"We don't want the ordinance to turn into a court-enforced club," he added.

The pollution ordinance, which went into nominal effect Feb. 28th, outlaws the burning of trash and rubbish but does not frobid the burning of leaves and grass, Sanger pointed out.

Residents who feel that they must burn their trash may apply for special permits to do so from the health department, he said, but such a permit requires the approval of both the pollution office and the city fire department.

Both Sanger and Johnson cautioned city residents to burn only dry leaves and grass. Johnson pointed out that many city residents are already hauling their grass and leaves to the dump along with their garbage.

Sanger indicated that it may be as much as a full year before the pollution office is able to enforce the industrial waste and incinerator portions of the law.

He said that equipment necessary for such enforcement would cost about $3,000 and that administration of the ordinance would run to about another $20,000.

Of that amount, he added, about $8,000 would be provided locally with the rest made up of federal pollution control funds.

Idea's Still There

Washington (AP) — President Johnson indicated his idea for merging the Departments of Labor and Commerce is still cooking, although it's on the back burner.

Dr. Carlyon Accepts Job At Seminary

The Lincoln district superintendent of the Methodist Church, Dr. Richard E. Carlyon, has accepted a position with a seminary, Nebraska Bishop Kenneth W. Copeland and Saint Paul Seminary President Don Holter announced Wednesday.

Dr. Carlyon will be counselor in finance for the Saint Paul School of Theology in Kansas City after his retirement in June. Since most of his liaison responsibilities with the seminary will be in Nebraska, the family will continue to live in Lincoln.

Lincoln district superintendent since 1963, Dr. Carlyon began his 45-year ministerial career at Chambers. He served other Nebraska churches at Dakota City, South Sioux City, Fullerton, Falls City, Scottsbluff and Trinity Church in Omaha.

A native of Michigan, he had been superintendent of the former Hastings District and the McCook District before his assignment at Lincoln.

Bishop Copeland said he will appoint a new superintendent for the Lincoln District. The appointment will be announced at the Nebraska Methodist annual conference in June.

Mrs. McMaines Likely To Seek Legal Advice

. . . Will Not Waive Extradition Immediately

Omaha (AP) — Mrs. Lillie Mae McMaines has decided not to waive immediately extradition to New Orleans, La., where she is sought as a material witness in the investigation in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The Omaha World-Herald said that although Mrs. McMaines has said she wanted to "get the thing over with" as soon as possible, she has decided she needs legal advice before taking any further action.

Mrs. McMaines was freed on $1,000 bond on an Omaha charge of being a fugitive from justice, posted after a warrant was received from New Orleans asking her arrest as a material witness in the case.

Authorities emphasized the fugitive warrant is simply a legal procedure and does not imply that Mrs. McMaines was "running." Detective inspector Richard Anderson said the local warrant was issued under Omaha's co-operation pact with other states.

A hearing has been scheduled for April 25, but if she desires, Mrs. McMaines can waive the hearing and go to New Orleans at any time.

The 22-year-old Omaha woman was linked to the investigation when Perry Russo, New Orleans resident and a key witness for New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison, said she had attended a party which preceded discussion of the alleged assassination plot. Mrs. McMaines said later she did not attend the party with Russo.

Russo said others at the party included Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the Warren commission as the slayer of President Kennedy; David W. Ferrie, now dead, and New Orleans businessman Clay L. Shaw. Shaw has been indicted on charges of plotting President Kennedy's death.

Railroad Conductors Union Threatens Nationwide Walkout

By United Press Internautional

The Railroad Conductors Union said Wednesday it would strike Saturday against more than 60 major railroads across the nation. The trainmen's union ordered a walkout Saturday against the Union Pacific Railroad.

The chief negotiator for the nation's railroads meanwhile said in Washington that the next 72 hours would determine whether there will be a coast-to-coast strike of railroad shopcraft workers April 12.

The National Mediation Board (NMB) was expected to move promptly to head off the threatened strikes by conductors and trainmen.

A spokesman for the NMB said the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen's dispute with the Union Pacific has not gone through the strike-delaying processes set forth by the Railway Labor Act and "we're going to grab it quick."

The NMB was in telephone consultation with railroad negotiators and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen (ORCB) on the union's 12:01 a.m. Saturday strike deadline against 60 to 70 lines.

An NMB spokesman said the conductors case, like the trainmen-Union Pacific dispute, has not gone through the mediation processes. He said the NMB probably would decide sometime Thursday upon its course of action in the ORCB strike threat.

ORCB President Clyde F. Lane said the strike call was directed against 60 to 70 railroads who have a health and welfare agreement with the union.

Lane charged that the railroads had threatened to stop premium payments on health and welfare insurance unless the union agreed to its wage-rules proposal in negotiations.

The BRT called its strike against the Union Pacific for 6 a.m. Saturday. Union vice president J. H. Shepherd said the walkout would involve approximately 750 employes between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles.

The union said the dispute involves a BRT attempt to get a rule to provide job protection for employes who work as train baggagemen.

Dry Years Imminent, Claims Weatherman After Research

Omaha (AP)—A bit of weather news—

Omaha Weather Bureau chief Ed Stapowich says Nebraska can expect dry years to be imminent.

He comes to that conclusion, he said, after plating dry and wet years since 1870. In that period there were 50 dry years and 46 wet years with the nine years preceding 1966 being predominently wet years.

Last year was dry and so were the first months of this year.

Stapowich said the jet stream—that is the stream that draws moisture from the gulf to Nebraska — is now moving across Canada, too far north to help much in drawing up moisture from the south.

He added that drier years do not necessarily mean drought, pointing out that while 1966 was dry there were two good rains falling at just the right time for crops.

Stapowich said his study shows the longest period of wet years was 1875 through 1885 and the driest period was 1933 through 1940, a dust bowl period nobody then in Nebraska ever will forget.

7-Point Program for Lincoln

Point 4. Taxation
The tax situation in the State of Nebraska is changing and changing rapidly and if the City of Lincoln is to keep pace with those changing times, then the office of mayor must provide leadership in this area. I believe that we must re-examine our forms of taxation as soon as the state has completed its legislation in an effort to find an appropriate overall method which will provide the most equitable source of revenue for the city and the minimum burden to the taxpayer. I believe that if the office of mayor is to provide leadership, then the mayor must assume the responsibility of finding these solutions.

ABBY:
keep him talking

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend is practically perfect. I mean, he really QUALIFIES! But he has one habit that drives me out of my mind. When we dance he sings along with the music. If he doesn't know the lyrics, he hums. It wouldn't be so bad if he could carry a tune, but I swear he's tone deaf. Moreover, he puts his head next to mine and my whole skull vibrates while he sings.

If I move my head away, he moves closer. I can't escape him. Don't tell me to quit going to dances with him because he'll ask someone else, and I don't want to lose him.

ELLEN

DEAR ELLEN: Borrow one of those "horse collars" from a friend who has already collected on her whiplash injury, and wear it which dancing with your thrush. That will keep his head away from yours. And if you're able to keep up a running conversation he won't have time to sing.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: How can I tactfully handle a neighbor who asks my 10-year-old daughter questions that are none of her business? She has asked, "Where did your parents go last Saturday nigh when you had a sitter?" Also, "Your mother has a new coat. Did your daddy strike an oil well?" She asked, "Are your folks invited to the Anderson wedding?" I never see this neighbor, as she is employed. I don't want to make a special trip to her home. Would it be proper for me to approach her 10-year-old daughter who plays with mine, and in a subtle way tell her I'd appreciate it if her mother didn't ask my child so many personal questions?

NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Don't send any "subtle" messages via a 10-year-old. Instruct YOUR child to tell the inquiring neighbor respectfully, but emphatically, that if she wants to know anything about Mother's "invitations" or Daddy's "oil wells," she should ask THEM.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have lived in the United Sates for five years now and have many American friends. Whenever my husband and I are invited to someone's home for dinner, I always take a small gift as a token of appreciation, which is a custom of the "Old Country."

These same friends who come to us for dinner time after time, come empty-handed. Please understand, I do not NEED the little presents they might bring, but I should think that after having received so many from me on similar occasions, they might have learned and reciprocated.

Don't Americans do this? Or am I the one who is wrong?

O.O.

DEAR O.O.: I think your "old country" custom is charming and would like to see it become part of OUR culture. But Americans are no less friendly or thoughtful because their traditions are not yours. So don't be misled.

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

It is not good enough to choose a method of play that gives you a 90% chance of making the contract, if there is a line of play that offers you a 100% chance of making the contract.

There are ways of insuring some hands against defeat which can and should be used even though the contingency being guarded against seems remote.

Thus, in the present case, South should do more than follow the line of least resistance by winning the diamond, drawing three rounds of trumps, cashing the ace of clubs, and then entering dummy with a heart in order to take a club finesse.

If he does this, he winds up going down one when it turns out that West started with four clubs to the Q-10 and must now make two club tricks.

Instead, after drawing trumps, he should assume that the clubs are divided 4-1 or 5-0, since these are the only distributions that can jeopardize the contract. Then, acting on this assumption, he should form a plan to overcome that condition if it exists.

This is not really difficult if South considers the matter thoroughly. He cashes two more diamonds and the ace of clubs before leading a heart to the ace and ruffing the queen.

The stage is now set for dealing with the 4-1 division in clubs, if it exists. All the hearts and diamonds have been eliminated from his own hand and dummy, so declarer simply leads the five of clubs.

As it happens, West started with four clubs and is now end-played by virtue of the far-sighted preparations. He must either lead a club into the K-J or yield a ruff and discard. East would have run into the same dead end had he been the player with four clubs.

March Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Roehrkasse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roehrkasse of Grand Island, to Glenn Trebelhorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Trebelhorn of Bayard, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, March 25, in the candlelighted chancel of Trinity Lutheran Church at Grand Island. The Rev. Otto Hussmann read the lines of the 2 o'clock service.

Mrs. Michael Eason of Clarskville, Tenn., was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmatrons were Mrs. Ralph Knepper, Holdrege, also sister of the bride, and Mrs. James Tice, Lincoln, sister of the bridegroom.

Serving his brother as best man was William H. Trebelhorn of Phoenix, Ariz., and the groomsmen were Ralph Knepper, Holdrege; James Tice, Lincoln; Norman Vogel, Melbeta; and Michael Liddy, Elkhorn.

The bride appeared in a gown of white lace and silk crepe. The high-waisted basque of lace was designed with bell sleeves, and the slender skirt of crepe was complemented by a court train. She carried a cascade of pink roses and daises.

Mr. and Mrs. Trebelhorn will live at 4117 Lenox, in Lincoln.

BRIDE
at evening wedding

All-white blossoms and clusters of lighted white candles appointed the chancel of Dundee Presbyterian Church in Omaha, Wednesday evening, March 29, for the wedding of Miss Joyce Lida Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph C. Mueller of Omaha, and Ralph W. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Smith. The ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock by Dr. Edward Stimson.

Long-skirted frocks of hyacinth blue linen were chosen for the attendants who were Mrs. James L. Levy of Millard, the matron of honor; Miss Elizabeth Mueller, as her sister's maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Judith Dempsey and Miss Frances Williams, both of Omaha.

Donald Smith served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were David Minick, John Campbell and Lt. John Hallett, all of Lincoln.

Accents of Venise lace touched the bride's gown of white imported linen. The lace circled the Empire waist and edged the flaring, elbow sleeves of the snug basque, and a deep overlay of the lace bordered the sheath skirt, which was completed by a detachable, paneled train of the linen. A circlet of lace, dotted with seed pearls held her veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade boquet of white roses and hyacinth blossoms.

Mr. Smith and his bride will make their home in Lincoln at 6515 Fairfax. A member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, Mrs. Smith is a student at the University of Nebraska, from which the bridegroom will receive his degree in June. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

TALK

What with the recent 'Tide of the Century' on the other side of the Atlantic, and the Show of the Century in Lincoln, Neb., USA, on Saturday evening centennialism seems to be catching on everywhere.

But before we delve into more news of what is happening on Saturday evening, we have some exceedingly interesting news from Boston, Mass.

* * *

We learned this morning that the marriage of Miss Sandra Louise Janssen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Janssen of Grand Island—and former coed at the University of Nebraska—to Stephen L. Coy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Coy of Lincoln, took place in Boston on March 17.

The 11 o'clock ceremony was followed by a wedding luncheon at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel.

Serving as best man and the matron of honor at the service were Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Johnson of Boston.

Mr. Coy and his bride, following a honeymoon trip to the Connecticut mountains, returned to Boston where they will reside, and where Mr. Coy is a junior at Harvard University, and where the bride is careering.

* * *

And there also is news from the nursery crowd down Ft. Sill, Okla., way this morning.

The word has come that Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. Schwabauer have a young son, Michael Jacob, who arrived on Tuesday, March 28. The baby's mother is the former Rosemary Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Jacobs of Lincoln—and Alpha Xi Delta at the University of Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwabauer.

Mr. Schwabauer is now attending the Army Officer Candidate School at Ft. Sill, Okla. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Farm House fraternity.

* * *

Now for some of the Show of the Century pre-show fun.

Planning to dine together at the Lincoln Country Club preceding the bus ride to the Pershing Auditorium are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hanson.

* * *

And in one of the large no host dinner groups at the University Club before curtain time on Saturday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Clark W. Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Van Bloom, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. John Angle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. James Lantz, Mr. and Mrs. James Seacrest of North Platte; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Seacrest, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Seacrest, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Liggett, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Agee, Dr. and Mrs. James Bell of York; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Doyle, Charles Jacobson, Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis D. Kimball and Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor Greer.

Mr. and Mrs. Greer, by the way, will have out of town guests at the dinner and the show. Mr. Greer's brother and Mrs. Greer's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. L. Greer and their three children, Bill, Jimmy and Julie, of Kenilworth, Ill. Mrs. Greer and the children arrived on Tuesday evening, and Mr. Greer is expected to join his family here today or tomorrow.

Kessler Heights
Eastborough
South Hills

Lincoln has new grass, new daffodils and a new spring to celebrate today. So we thought we should tell you about WHO'S NEW, too.

So, let's begin in Kessler Heights — A mother couldn't ask for a better birthday present than a new daughter, and Mrs. Earl Schumucker and Mr. Schumucker seem very happy about wee Lisa Marie who arrived on mom's anniversary, March 25.

At home to welcome Mrs. Schmucker and Lisa today are two brothers, Robert and David, and Lisa's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Schmucker of Wilber, who have been doing a little babysitting this week. Also coming to meet Lisa will be her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harald of Lincoln.

By the way, Lisa is the 26th grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Schmucker.

Some long-time residents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kyster and family were on the move during the weekend. Sunday they were guests in Omaha — first at the home of Mr. Kyster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kyster, and later in the afternoon the guests of Mrs. Kyster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stemple, also of Omaha, who entertained them at dinner.

Karen Ann Range arrived too soon for the Easter basket at the Eastborough home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Range, but just in time to greet the morning of March 22 at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

And just soon enough to please her older sister, Jill who is two years old, and her grandfathers, Henry Penner of Lincoln and Frank Range of Bellflower, Calif.

And at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don McWilliams the bunny also made a premature stop leaving on March 16 Miss Paula Lisa McWilliams much to the delight of her older sisters, Patti, Peggy and Penny, and brother, Jeffery.

Paula's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Leola McWilliams of Omaha, was a recent houseguest at the Lincoln home, and the baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sperling of Scotia.

We also learned that Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams will be leaving Lincoln soon to become residents of Albuquerque, N.M.

If farewells are necessary this morning so are hellos to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Myers who are the new residents at 1200 W. Avon. Mr. and Mrs. Myers, who are former Lincoln residents, are just returning from seven years in Kansas City, and with them are their six-year-old twin daughters, Jennifer and Christine.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers are University of Nebraska graduates. Mrs. Myers, the former Betsy Antes, is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, and Mr. Myers is affiliated with Beta Sigma Psi fraternity. He is currently associated with the state tax commissioner's office at the Capitol.

Crete was the pre-holiday destination for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Degenhardt and family. Saturday they were the guests of Mr. Degenhardt's mother, Mrs. Theresa Degenhardt.

Attendants

Miss Jo Diane Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce H. Wilson, who will become the bride of Wesley Loos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Loos, on Saturday, April 8, has revealed that her wedding will take place at 2:30 o'clock, at Trinity Methodist Church.

Attending Miss Wilson as maid of honor will be Miss Evelyn Snook, and Miss Kathy Dovel of Davenport, Iowa, will be the bridesmaid. Miss Robin Snook will be the flower girl, and ringbearer will be Patrick Wheeler.

Douglas Gemmell will serve Mr. Loos as best man, and the groomsmen will be John Havranek of Omaha, Rodney Loos, brother of the bridegroom-elect, and Greg Heinike.

ABC Upholds Disqualification

Grand Island (UPI) — American Bowling Congress officials have upheld the disqualification of Brad Harmon of Lincoln for submitting an improper average in the 10th annual Grand Island Men's Open Handicap Bowling Tournament.

The tourney ended Feb. 26 at the Meves Bowl.

Harmon had won the singles title prior to discovery and the filing of a protest on the average.

The newly-declared winner is Bill Karn of Stapleton. Prize money was $300.

Distance Runners Threaten State Prep Marks

. . . TWO-MILE RUN ADDED TO PROGRAM THIS SPRING

Fourth in a Series

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

New avenues for success have been opened up for a crop of veteran distance runners as the two-mile run has been added to the Nebraska high school track program.

While the new event will undoubtedly weaken the mile run fields there will be enough proven performers left there to produce threats to existing state records in three classes.

Pat Rinn of Omaha North, third in the Class A mile chase last year with a best of 4:27 and Class A cross country champ last fall, heads the top division's distance troops.

Omaha Central's Mark Wilson, fourth in the Class A 880 last year and unbeaten until the state meet in cross country last fall, is expected to move into the mile and if he and Rinn meet often enough the competition could lead to the state's first sub-4:20 mile.

Lower class milers who could match the Omahans are Hebron's Larry Kassebaum and Lexington's Tom Housel, 1-2 in the Class B chase last year.

Housel, who handily won cross country honors in Class B in November, opened his spring campaign with a 4:28.5 effort in defeating Rinn and Kassebaum in the Kearney State indoor meet.

Kassebaum will be in Class C this year, where two other former state mile champs return. They are Jack Weyers of Sterling, who won as a sophomore in 1965, and Cliff Colglazier of Grant, the 1966 winner. These two are more likely to wind up in the two-mile event this year, however.

Hebron's Tracy Long, seeking his third state 880 title in as many years, heads the middle distance returnees. He won in Class C as a sophomore, whipped the Class B field last year and now will be back in Class C for his final season.

Class D champ Richard Molczyk of Humphrey also returns in the 880.

But the best will probably be Omaha Westside veteran Warren Whitted, whose best of 1:56.9 has been beaten only by three other runners in Nebraska prep history.

Omaha Tech's Arvie George, just two-tenths of a second off the state record in winning the Class A half-mile title as a sophomore last year, had his promising career cut short by an unfortunate summer accident in which both legs were broken and he isn't expected to be a contender.

No state champs return in the 440, where Omaha Tech junior Virgil Mitchell heads the list of contenders. He was second in the Class A race last year and already owns a place on the all-time leaders list with a :49.4.

HUSKERS RAP HOUSTON

Win Is First For Nebraska

. . . TRIO LEADS NU ATTACK

Houston, Tex. (AP) — The University of Nebraska scored eight runs in the seventh inning Wednesday as the Cornhuskers blasted the University of Houston, 16-2, in a college baseball game.

The Cornhuskers sent 15 men to bat in the seventh and at the time were behind, 2-1. Second baseman Tony Sharpe, center fielder Dave Murphy and right fielder Steve Johnson led the Nebraska attack, collecting 10 of the Cornhuskers' 18 hits.

Houston's Kenny Herbert was the only Cougar to get more than one hit off the two Nebraska pitchers, starter Keith Winter and winner Mick Zangari.

The win was the first for coach Tony Sharpe's NU club after two losses to Rice here on a week-long trip. Nebraska and Houston will square off again today.

CASSIUS A LOSER . . . Clay leaves District Court with attorney Chauncey Eskridge after losing bid to halt his induction.

Clay Gets Hit With 1-2 Punch

. . . INDUCTION SET APRIL 28

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — U.S. District Court in Louisville threw a knock-out punch Wednesday to another of Cassius Clay's attempts to remain a civilian.

It tossed out Clay's request for creation of a special three-judge panel to rule on the heavyweight champion's suit to suspend the draft of all Kentucky Negroes while the court decided whether Clay himself should serve.

Then, for the final one-two, Clay got notice from his Houston draft board to appear for induction April 28.

Clay contended he received unjust treatment from his former draft board in Louisville because there were no Negroes on it. He also claimed that to be drafted now would cause him "irreparable harm" in future boxing engagements.

Clay's New York attorney, Hayden Covington, told the court that, in any event, Clay ought not to be thrust into the "fiery furnace of the Selective Service process" until the question is decided.

Judge James F. Gordon refused to grant an injunction.

How does the man who calls himself a Black Muslim minister take all this:

Clay, who looked tired, said he is not bitter.

"I'll just report to Houston on the 28th, if it is Allah's will."

Earns Atlanta Pole Position

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — Daring Curtis Turner escaped without injury but lost his bid for the pole position in the Atlanta 500 when his 1967 Chevelle crashed during a test run Wednesday, and the leading spot in Sunday's race was claimed by Cale Yarborough.

Driving a 1967 Ford, Yarborough set the pace in the first day of qualifying for the $77,000 race by shattering Turner's track record with a four-lap average of 148.996 miles an hour.

The Charlotte, N.C., driver also erased Turner's one-lap record with a clocking of 149.461 on the mile and one-half track, leading eight qualifiers into Sunday's 44-car field.

Turner, 48-year-old racing veteran who was trying to break his own Atlanta Raceway records, was pulled from his burning car after his spectacular crash.

The car went out of control at about 150 miles an hour coming out of the fourth turn, flipped end over end for 150 yards in front of grandstand onlookers, broke through an infield rail and caught fire.

Wesleyan Opens Baseball Slate With ND State

A late edition to the schedule will open Nebraska Wesleyan's baseball season Friday at Sherman Field.

The Plainsmen of coach Irv Peterson will entertain North Dakota State in a pair of seven-inning games with the opener slated for 1:30 p.m.

Peterson has named veterans Tom Oschner and John Laird, both of Lincoln, to start on the mound in the twin bill.

The unseasonable warm weather in recent days has allowed the NWU club to get its fastest spring start in years. Peterson has lettermen available at every position.

—OUTDOOR OPENER SATURDAY—

NWU Trackmen Host South Dakota

Coach Woody Greeno has picked a tough opener for the outdoor track season at Nebraska Wesleyan.

The Plainsman thinclads will host South Dakota University at the NWU oval Saturday with field events begining at 1 p.m. and the first race at 1:30 p.m.

The invaders are defending champions of the tough North Central Conference and have won that title three of the last four years under veteran coach Dan Lennon.

Greeno said, "we hope a peak performance by all of our boys and a balanced team effort will at least let us stay close."

The Dakotans boast some fine individuals. One of the top attractions of the day will come in the sprints. Wesleyan's Tom Bassett will be matched with Doug Dunsmore. Both recorded indoor 60-yard dash bests of :06.2 this year.

Other NWU strong points are expected to be Jim Comstock in the mile, Jim Watt, 440-yard dash and Wendell Wilson, half-mile. While lacking a standout, Wesleyan also hopes to score well in the javelin and pole vault.

The conference champions on the South Dakota team include Gerald Hermans, mile; Dave Heffern, two-mile; Terry Danburg, broad jump; Kirk Kemmish, 440 and Rich Harris, shotput.

Illinois Hires Valek,Schmidt

Champaign, Ill. (AP) — Scandal-scarred Illinois appointed two of its former athletic stars, Jim Valek and Harv Schmidt, as head football and basketball coaches, respectively, Wednesday.

Valek, 40, assistant football coach at South Carolina, and Schmidt, 31, assistant basketball coach at New Mexico, were given one-year contracts as replacements for resigned Pete Elliott and Harry Combes.

Elliott and Combes, along with assistant basketball coach Howie Braun, resigned March 19, two days before the deadline given Illinois by the Big Ten to fire the three or face indefinite suspension from the conference.

Valek, who also held assistant football coaching jobs at Army, Illinois and Wichita, and Schmidt, assistant the past three seasons to basketball coach Bob King of New Mexico, were introduced at a news conference by new Illini Athletic Director, Gene Vance.

Nebraska wrestler Ben Barends bridges to keep from being pinned by teammate Rich Kerr. However, the maneuver could cost him three points.

Referee Harold Thompson is giving a count with his right hand and if the count reaches five while Barends is still bridged with both shoulders exposed, Kerr will be awarded three points.

The situation is called a predicament.

Penn AD Says Firing Caused By Slush Fund

. . . FORD CHALLENGED ILLEGAL FUND

Philadelphia (AP) — Jerry Ford announced Wednesday that he has been fired as athletic director at the University of Pennsylvania for challenging the use of a slush fund in violation of Ivy League rules.

Ford said he was asked to step down by Dr. Harry Fields, an assistant to the university president, "to change the image of Penn athletics."

A former Penn athlete, who became athletic director in 1953, when Penn de-emphasized its athletic program, Ford said the request of his resignation "came as no surprise to me."

Ford said he realized he was on his way out as long as two years ago when the university made a survey of its athletic program and named Fields as its head.

"When Penn gives its alumni even a little control of athletics, someone has to be made a scapegoat for defeats," Ford said. "The alumni can't take defeat even though they don't play the games.

"The Penn president and the whole university are unavailable as scapegoats even though they are the ultimate reason for athletic success. So the coach is it unless he is a sacred cow. If he is such an animal, then the athletic director is a logical candidate for scapegoat."

The "sacred cow" Ford apparently referred to was head football Coach Bob O'Dell, who was brought in two years ago to revitalize Penn's football fortunes which had sunk to an all-time low.

O'Dell was given a three-year contract at $17,000 a year, and when he threatened to leave last year for another job, was boosted to a five-year contract at $19,000 a year.

Dunking Rule Restricts Tall Man Further

San Francisco (AP) — There is much more to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's new anti-dunking basketball rule than immediately meets the eye, said the National Basketball Committee's John Bunn Wednesday.

And it will be hard to see. Not only is the dunk—or stuff—eliminated, but—

"A basket will not count if the offensive player's hand is in contact with the ball when any part of the ball is penetrating over or beyond the rim of the basket," Bunn said.

"That applies whether the man has control of the ball or is attempting a tip-in and also pertains whether the man is to the side of the rim, or above it."

The NCAA, Bunn added, is attempting to eliminate the unusually tall man's advantage. "Now, for the basket to count, he'll have to be at least 10 inches above when he taps the ball downward."

State Coaches Don't Like No-Dunk Rule

. . . CALLED 'CROWD PLEASER'

Omaha (UPI) — Reed McManus, Creighton basketball coach, said Wednesday banning of the dunk shot outlaws "one of the most colorful plays in the game."

He said this particular shot had proven "real attractive and exciting for the fans."

McManus said he could not see any difference in whether a player makes a lay-up or stuffs the ball.

The National Basketball Committee Tuesday announced the abolition of the stuff shot in an attempt to "equalize offense and defense."

McManus said the rule makers "are asking for more trouble on goal tending. You'll see more shots laid against the board and batted away, leaving more discretion to the referees." When that happens, the coach said, "You are asking for trouble."

Warren Marquis, Omaha Central High School coach, agreed with McManus.

Marquis said it wasn't always the big player who dunked the ball. He said sometines a shorter player would stuff the ball and then it was "one of the real exciting things about the game."

The Central team has one of the best high school dunkers in the state in junior Dwaine Dillard.

Glenn Potter, assistant coach at the University of Nebraska, said the new rule may tend to neutralize the big players. But Potter also said the change will do away with a crowd-pleasing play."

Pirates Ready To Make Pennant Run

. . . RIBANT, PIZARRO, WILLS ADDED OVER WINTER; SPEED, HITTING SOLID

Fort Myers, Fla. (AP) — If Pittsburgh didn't win last year with a power-packed lineup that included the batting champ and the most valuable player in the league, how can the Pirates expect to do better?

Harry Walker, the Pirate skipper, "has been fielding that question all spring. Harry the Hat hardly ever fumbles.

"We hope to get better pitching from the three young fellows — Woody Fryman, Tommie Sisk and Steve Blass," Walker keeps telling people. "Bob Veale should have a better year. He has a capability of 20. And we have added Dennis Ribant and Juan Pizarro who know how to pitch.

"Maury Wills, probably hitting No. 2 and playing third base, gives us a man who can hit and run, drag, pull the ball occasionally and run.

"According to my thinking Roberto Clemente will get more fast balls to hit with Wills running. Pitchers won't fool around with the change up and breaking stuff with a chance of Wills stealing a base."

Wills, the base bandit who stole 104 bases in 1962, became a Pirate during the winter after he jumped the Dodger ship during an exhibition tour of Japan. The Bucs gave up Bob Bailey, a young man with potential as a slugger, and rookie shortstop Gene Michael.

Aware of criticism that they did nothing to bolster the pitching staff last September, the Pirates grabbed Ribant from the Mets for veteran Don Cardwell and a rookie outfielder and bought Pizarro from the White Sox, where he had worn out his welcome.

The Pirates' .279 club batting average of 1966, by far the best in the majors, was no fluke. Although it is not wise to expect men like the alternating center fielders, Manny Mota, .332, and batting champ Matty Alou, .342, to repeat, the other hitters have been doing it for years.

An outfield with Mota and Alou in center, Willie Stargell, .315 with 33 homers and 102 RBI, in left and the MVP, Clemente, .317 with 29 homers and 119 RBI, in right, is enough to give any pitcher the shakes.

Shortstop Gene Alley, .299, and second baseman Bill Mazeroski, .262, make up the best double play combination in baseball. Their teamwork was largely responsible for the Pirates' total of 215 double plays, a National League record.

Big Donn Clendenon, .299 with 28 homers and 98 RBI, at first and the fiery Wills .273 at third round out the infield.

Walker feels that a slimmed-down Jim Pagliaroni, a catcher no longer handicapped by the foot trouble that slowed him last year, will do much better than his .235 average.

Walker lists seven starting pitchers out of which he expects to form his regular rotation. They are Veale, 16-12; Fryman, 12-9; Blass, 11-7; Sisk, 10-5; Vern Law, 12-8; Pizarrow, 8-6 with the White Sox and Ribant, 11-9 with the Mets.

Illness of Billy O'Dell, who reported about a month late, leaves a spot for a lefty in the bullpen. The veteran Bill Short, 2-3 with Baltimore and Boston, or rookie Jim Shellenback, 11-13 with Columbus, might make it. The right-handed relief men include Pete Mikkelsen; 9-8; ElRoy Face, 6-6, and Al McBean, 4-3.

Bluejay Baseball Season Opens At Kansas State

Omaha — Creighton University baseballers will open their season Saturday by taking on possibly the toughest competition they'll face all year.

Coach Herb Millard has scheduled his Bluejays for a three-game Saturday test at Manhattan, Kan., against Kansas State. The Wildcats are touted as contenders for the Big Eight Conference crown. They have made a good showing on a pre-conference Southern swing.

Creighton, meanwhile, has labored without indoor practice facilities or an on-campus diamond. The Bluejays were 12-12 a year ago but against competition less stylish than coach Bob Brasher's Wildcats.

3 Judges Ponder 26 States' Suit Against '66 Wage Law

Baltimore, Md. (AP) — A three-judge federal panel, asked to erect a barrier to intrusion of federal power against states, took the case under advisement Wednesday.

The court said a temporary restraining order prohibiting the federal government from enforcing provisions of 1966 amendments to the fair labor standards act would be extended until the decision is rendered.

The judges acted after hearing Charles Donahue, U.S. solicitor for labor, warn them against trying "to fashion a new law out of whole cloth."

Maryland, Texas

Maryland and Texas appealed to the court to curb the power of the federal government, lest the rights of states be eliminated entirely.

They presented their arguments in a session that heard quotations from James Madison, Alexander Hamilton, Abraham Lincoln, the Federalist Papers, the Articles of Confederation and landmark Supreme Court decisions.

The two states are spearheading arguments against the constitutionality of 1966 amendments which brought employes of schools and hospitals run by states under minimum wage protection for the first time.

States Plaintiffs

A total of 26 states, including Nebraska, are parties to the suit against W. Willard Wirtz, the secretary of labor; Charles T. Lundquist, administrator of the wage and hour and public contracts division of the Labor Department; and William Hargadine, a regional director of the division.

The AFL-CIO and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes joined in the suit on the side of the government.

Maryland has asked the federal panel to declare the amendments unconstitutional and to issue a permanent injunction prohibiting enforcement of its provisions. Either way, the case will go from here to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The law, effective Feb. 1, 1967, required a minimum hourly wage of $1.15 for employes of public schools, hospitals, nursing homes and institutions for the mentally or physically handicapped. By Feb. 1, 1971, the minimum would be $1.60 an hour.

Both Maryland and Texas said they now pay the employes involved more than the minimum.

Atty. Gen. Francis B. Burch of Maryland and two of his assistants led off the argument. The gist of it was this:

Schools and hospitals run by states do not fall under the commerce clause of the Constitution. Congress has gone beyond the boundary of federal authority and trespassed on powers reserved for the states, violating the 10th and 11th Amendments.

"If this law is allowed to stand," Burch said, "Congress also could set wages and hours for the Baltimore city police and fire departments."

He said that if schools and hospitals are not outside the limit that can be reached by congressional authority, then there is no limit.

Maj. Gen. John J. Tolson III will take over as commander of the 1st Air Cavalry Division in Vietnam Saturday. He has been commander of the Army Aviation Center at Ft. Rucker, Ala.

Joey Bishop To Try For Late Show Crown

By VERNON SCOTT

Hollywood (UPI) — Joey Bishop is girding for the battle of his life opposite Johnny Carson on a rival network late talk show—but reluctantly.

ABC-TV launches Bishop's new five-nights-a-week gabfest April 17, pitting him opposite the champ, Carson.

The network attitude is "Get in there, Joey, Carson can't lay a glove on us." But Carson is fast with his dukes. He's knocked out every contender to make a pass at his ratings.

Bishop, a droll, glib and very funny man, doesn't savor the competitive aspects of the new show. But he's not new at the game. Over the years he has acted as summer replacement for the old Jack Paar Show and for Carson a total of some 22 weeks.

"ABC hopes I can knock off Carson," Bishop said without enthusiasm. "I just hope I can put on a delightful show every night for an hour and a half. That's really my purpose in doing it."

The physical trappings of Joey's show will be similar to that of any talk program, desks, chairs for the guests and the awkward side-by-side seating arrangement which allows both host and guests to face the camera.

"All talk shows have the same appearance," Joey acknowledged. "We tried a swing and a couch on the ceiling, but guests objected.

"There is no format per se. I have creative control and will try to keep the show flexible. We're not going to accept a guest just because he's finished a new movie or written a book.

"And I believe a comedian shouldn't be heard to be funny. He should be overheard. And that's what viewers will be doing when they tune in our show. They'll be overhearing us."

Bishop's premiere show will feature Debbie Reynolds and Danny Thomas as guests.

"How about that," he grinned. "Debbie was the 'singing nun' and Danny is involved in the St. Jude projects and the host is a bishop. We shouldn't have any trouble at all."

24 Candidates Seek Post Left By S. G. Barve

Bombay, India (AP)—Twenty-four candidates have entered the April 23 by-election called to choose a successor to Congress Party man S. G. Barve, who died after beating ex-Defense Minster V. K Krishna Menon in the February elections for the Bombay Northeast seat in parliament.

Barve's sister, Mrs. Tara G. Sapre, who campaigned door to door for him, now is campaigning the same way for herself against the America-baiting Menon.

Most other candidates are expected to withdraw.

Action On Dodd To Be In Between

Washington (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee which investigated misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd has decided neither to exonerate him nor to recommend his expulsion from the Senate, it was learned Wednesday.

What in-between action to take against the Connecticut Democrat has not yet been determined.

The decision was reached at a secret meeting of the six-member bipartisan committee a week ago, shortly before Congress started its Easter recess.

The exoneration and expulsion were the two extremes of possible action. The committee ruled out both in instructing its staff to proceed with the preparation of a report to the Senate.

Kennedy Probe Brings Threats Against Garrison

New Orleans (AP)—Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison told newsmen Wednesday there have been threats on his life as a result of his investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Asekd if he had received word from law enforcement agencies about threats on his life during the past week, Garrison replied: "Yes, before and since." He did not elaborate.

The FBI notified New Orleans police Tuesday that a woman in Georgia was reported to have threatened Garrison's life. The FBI gave out no details.

Garrison, who customarily carries a pistol, would not comment when asked about precautions he might be taking. His house has been under 24-hour guard for weeks.

Engagement's Off Between Actress And Roger Smith

Hollywood (AP)—Actress Ann-Margaret said Wednesday she has broken her year-long engagement to actor Roger Smith, adding: "I have given Roger his ring back."

Asked why the romance was broken off, the Swedish-born 26-year-old actress said only "That is between us."

Smith, 33, who starred in the "77 Sunset Strip" television series, said:

"If we were not going to get married, there was no use dragging the engagement on any longer.

You might describe the difference between a good and a poor hearing aid the same way. What is good for you may not be good for others.

It tells about a new formula for home therapy that may well bring you long-lasting relief and comfort

If you seek more relief than you may now be getting, join the thousands of hemorrhoid (pile) sufferers now turning to new M.P.O. Developed by famous Mentholatum Laboratories, M.P.O. works in these five ways:

1. Helps ease pain faster. M.P.O. contains more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients than the preparation you may now be using . . . to help reduce pain and discomfort.

2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephedrine Sulfate.

3. Helps relieve embarrassing itch. M.P.O.'s medication is homogenized for faster absorption, faster action.

4. Helps make relief last longer. M.P.O.'s more temperature-stable base holds medication in place for prolonged action.

5. Helps fight danger of infection. Proven germ-killer, Hexachlorophene, combats bacteria.

Test it yourself for the next three days. If not satisfied that M.P.O. helps you more than the preparation you're now using, return unused portion for full refund. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

Market Takes Moderate Loss

New York (AP)— The stock market backed away from an irregular early gain and took a moderate loss Wednesday. Trading was fairly active.

Volume was 8.43 million shares compared with 8.94 million Tuesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 4.18 to 87.

Concern that the coming flood of first-quarter earnings reports would compare unfavorable with those a year ago was among the depressing factors cited as the market entered the final session of March.

Usually, the news of lower earnings is mirrored by lower stock prices. Some analysts said, however, that the market probably discounted the drop in earnings many weeks ago. There was nothing secret about them.

In any event, it was a losing session for the market but a completely undramatic one.

The Associated Press average of 69 stocks fell .4 to 323.4 with industrials off 2.3, rails up .7 and utilities up .5.

Of 1,433 issues traded, 592 declined and 587 advanced.

SCM Corp. wound up the day as most-active stock, down 5 at 66⅜ on 69,300 shares.

Of the 9 most-active stocks, losers outnumbered gainers only by 8 to 6 with Crowell-Collier unchanged.

The New York Stock Exchange index lost 6 cents at $49.75.

Losers outnumbered gainers on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.37 million shares compared with 3.68 million Tuesday. The exchange's stock index rose one cent to $50.

Wheat Futures Prices Decline

Chicago (AP)—Wheat futures dipped 4 cents a bushel and imparted a generally lower tone to prices on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday.

Only soybean futures were able to stand off the nervous tension created by wheat fluctuations.

Wheat was weak at the outset, dropping 4 cents within minutes after the opening, influenced by a report of possible rain in the Southwest winter wheat-producing area.

However, within an hour, prices moderated and actually made a comeback of 1½ to 2 cents a bushel, with a distinct reaction in other pits.

Near the close wheat dipped again.

The nervousness in wheat was a facet of what the trade calls "the weather market," or trade which is influenced—higher or lower—by the weather.

Soybeans opened weak and were lightly traded through most of the session. However, export purchases sent the price of May beans up a cent a bushel, the best advance in some six trading sessions.

At the close, wheat was 3⅜ to 3⅝ cents a bushel lower, May $1.75⅞-76; corn was ⅞ to 1¼ cents lower, May $1.40-40¼; oats were ⅜ to ½ cent lower, May 73 cents; rye was 1⅝ to 1¾ cents lower, May $1.24⅛; and soybeans were ½ to ⅞ cents lower, May $2.86-86⅛.

New York Threatened With Major Newspaper Walkout

New York (AP) — Contracts between five New York major daily newspapers and 10 unions expire at midnight Thursday, and one union leader said a strike is "as likely as not."

If a strike comes it would be the fifth newspaper walkout in less than four years.

Since Nov. 1, 1962, some or all of the city's major dailies have been shut down by strikes for a total of 41 weeks, or an average of one out of every five weeks.

During that time the number of major dailies in New York shrank from nine to six. The Mirror ceased publication shortly after one long strike and the Herald Tribune, which was scheduled to continue morning publication under a merger with the World-Telegram & the Sun and Journal American died before the last strike was over.

Merger-Caused

That strike, resulting from the merger, was settled Sept. 12, 1966. Other newspapers in the city continued publication during the 140-day walkout.

Negotiations between the newspapers and the unions—in some cases joint meetings and in other cases individual sessions—continued Wednesday, to avert another strike.

The unions seek new work agreements to replace expiring two-year contracts for 17,000 salaried and hourly rated employes of the Times, Daily News, World Journal Tribune, Long Island Press and Long Island Star-Journal, all members of the Publishers Association of New York City.

New York's sixth major daily, the Post, is not a member of the publishers association and negotiates separately with the unions.

Four of the unions "are prepared to go on strike" after their contracts expire, said Thomas J. Murphy, chairman of the Newspaper Unity Council and executive vice president of the New York Newspaper Guild. He said these are the printers, electricians, deliverers and machinists.

Two other unions, the photoengravers and the mailers, are due to meet before the contract deadline to vote on strike action, he said.

"It looks like they're all bogged down and a strike Thursday night is as likely as not," Murphy said.

John J. Gaherin, president of the Publishers Association, said: "If in fact the situation is nearing a crisis, it is not the fault of the publishers.

"We have made every possible effort to resolve the dispute," he said. "We practically pleaded with the union to resolve their internal differences, and pious platitudes to the contrary, they still haven't done this."

Blaze Damages Lincoln Home

A Lincoln home suffered "considerable damage" late Wednesday afternoon in a blaze that apparently started in the southern part of the basement, fire department officials said.

The fire in the home of Rufus Baldwin at 2717 Randolph extended to the kitchen, the porch, and the roof from the basement of the building, firemen said.

Fire officials said that the home suffered throughout from fire and smoke damage.

Gill To Direct Arizona State Indian Center

Winnebago (AP) — George A. Gill, the first American Indian to receive a master's degree in Indian education, has been appointed to the faculty of Arizona State University at Tempe.

A native of Sioux City, Iowa, Gill attended the University of Nebraska for one semester and received his bachelor of science and master's degrees at Arizona State.

He is a Navy veteran of World War II and the Korean War. Gill and his wife, the former Frances Whitted of Winnebago, have two sons.

LINCOLN IS PROUD OF

Its recreational facilities. Lincoln is proud to have over 25 parks, one of which is the famous Children's Zoo. Besides the many recreational facilities, Lincoln offers sportsmen ample choice of their favorite hobby. The fine museums and auditoriums, like Pershing Municipal Auditorium, give Lincoln a reason to be proud.

It doesn't matter what part of the world you visit, you will always find that recreation plays an important part in the lives of everyone. Whether it be sporting events or hobbies, recreation is international. Man needs some form of relaxation. Another form of relaxation to man is the reading of the newspaper. And one of the most beneficial sections of the newspaper is the Want Ads. Want Ads are one of the best ways for man to take part in the sport of buying and selling. You can buy or sell furnishings or appliances, rent apartments, hire help, or even take up a new hobby.

The Journal-Star regards the Want Ads as a vitally important part of the community service it renders. We are proud to announce International Want Ad Week, March 26 thru April 1.
